They Are Expected to Ratify Nation-wide Strike Unless Railroads Make Concessions—Brotherhood Chiefs at Meeting.

Union Representatives Will Meet Railroad Managers in New York Tomorrow to Present Demands.

President Not Expected to Make Any Effort to Bring About Settlement Until After This Conference.

President Amazed at Proposal for Nation-Wide Strike

WASHINGTON, March 14. PRESIDENT WILSON is amazed at the proposal of a nation-wide railroad strike at this juncture of international affairs. It is stated authoritatively today that he expects railroads and the men at their conference in New York tomorrow to consider the state of the country's foreign relations and make every possible effort to agree. It is possible that he may appeal to both sides on that ground. Today the President is being kept in touch with the situation through Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The chiefs of the four great brotherhoods of railroad employes came here today from Washington for a final conference with the local chairmen of unions in Eastern territory before meeting the members of the National Conference Committee of the railroads tomorrow to present their demands for an eight-hour day.

It is expected that the Eastern representatives will follow the example of the employes' conference held yesterday at Washington and St. Louis and ratify plans for a general strike if the railroads refuse to grant their demands.

Strike orders to take effect first in the East on Saturday night have been issued and the organized employes await directions to be issued here after tomorrow's conference. The Managers' Committee which is handling the situation for the railroads, will meet here tonight. The managers maintain that there cannot be any compromise at this time, pending a decision by the Supreme Court on the Adamson law.

Trainmen Are United.

There is no expectation on the part of railroad leaders here that President Wilson will take any action prior to an announcement of the results of tomorrow's meeting. W. G. Lee, head of the trainmen's organization, declared that he and his associates would go before the railroad representatives with their entire membership united behind their demands.

A statement issued by the chiefs of the railroad brotherhoods before leaving Washington last night denounced as absurd, "all insinuations to the effect that transportation employes are not loyal citizens because of their attempt at this time to secure from their employers the benefits contemplated by the law," and said that the railroad men had given to President Wilson assurances of their willingness and intention to support the country, should war be declared.

"Seemingly it has been the purpose of the railroad companies," said the statement, "to postpone settlement of this question until either a panic or war should defeat our demands."

Statement by Trainmen.

The statement given out in Washington was signed by Warren S. Stone, president of the engineers; W. S. Carter of the firemen, W. G. Lee of the trainmen and L. E. Sheppard, acting president of the conductors, and said:

"All members of the general committees representing a number of railroads in the Southeastern territory conferred here today and gave thorough consideration to the application of the basic eight-hour work day as authorized by the chief executives, which was presented to and refused by the National Conference Committee of the railways last December. It was then hoped by the brotherhoods that an application of the so-called Adamson law could be agreed upon that would give train, engine and yard employes at once the benefits intended by the President when proposing the eight-hour law. The proposition submitted at today's meeting by the chief executives was unanimously indorsed by the various general committees, thus authorizing the chief executives to again renew their attempt to effect a peaceful settlement with the conference committee at the meeting to be held in New York, Thursday, the 15th.

"All insinuations to the effect that transportation employes are not loyal citizens because of their attempt at this time to secure from their employers the benefits contemplated by the law, is absurd, and assurances of our willingness and intention to support our country should war be declared has been

CHINA BREAKS WITH GERMANY, SEIZES SHIPS

Takes Possession of Six Merchantmen at Shanghai and Places Vessels and Their Crews Under Guard.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—China has severed diplomatic relations with Germany, taken possession of all German merchant ships in Shanghai, about six in number, placed their crews on shore under guard and placed armed guards on vessels.

Advices to the Navy Department today from the senior officer in Chinese waters gave no further details.

American Minister Reinsch, at Pekin, also reported to the State Department that China had severed diplomatic relations with Germany and that the German Minister had been handed his passports.

The severance of relations has been expected here for weeks. The action of the United States in breaking relations was received with acclamation by Chinese officials and press. Feeling against Germany has run high, not only because scores of Chinese on the way to Europe have lost their lives through German submarine operations, but also from memory of the Kaiser's orders to his Boxer punitive force tto make the word "German" dreaded in China for a century, and the seizure by Germany of the whole province of Shantung for the murder of two missionaries.

Seizure of the German ships may be taken by Germany as an act of war, as in the case of Portugal.

China's action may be followed by seizure of German property, which is extensive in China. In addition to all the concessions held by Germany in the cities, which it is presumed will be seized as quasi public property, there are extensive private German holdings. Latest figures show that there are about 3000 German civilians scattered throughout the republic.

6-FOOT RISE IN RIVER DUE

Recent Rains Permit Opening of Steamboat Season.

A 6-foot rise in the Mississippi River will be the result of general rains in the last two days throughout the Mississippi and Missouri valleys. At 7 a. m. today the river had risen 2.7 feet in 24 hours, and the Weather Bureau announced that an additional rise of 3 feet would be registered by 7 a. m. tomorrow, bringing the stage of the river to 7.5 feet. After tomorrow the rise will be gradual.

With the river up, steamboat companies started their seasons. The steamer Peoria left here for Kampsville, and the Bald Eagle steamed out in place of the Capt Girardeau.

H. D. LAUGHLIN OF CHICAGO SUED BY SON FOR $230,142

Action Filed in Clayton Names Transactions Covering Period of 20 Years.

In a suit filed this morning at Clayton, Elmyr A. Laughlin of Oregon, Ill., asks that his father, Henry D. Laughlin, wealthy owner of the Great Northern Hotel in Chicago, be required to pay him $230,142.26, covering a long series of remarkable transactions alleged to have been conducted between the two during a period of 20 years, from 1896 to 1916. The action was brought in St. Louis County on account of the elder Laughlin's extensive holdings there.

The plaintiff alleges that, in 1902, he was the sole owner of the West Coast Co. of Chicago, and that in the two years following his father drew money from the concern until the total drafts amounted to $16,000 more than the concern was worth. To keep it from going to the wall the son borrowed $4000 from a friend of his father's, named Goldberg, while the father also borrowed $20,000 from Goldberg. When the loans became due Goldberg was unable to collect from Henry Laughlin, who, according to the petition, went to his son and urged him to sell the company to Goldberg. He did so, taking Goldberg's notes for $64,000. Henry Laughlin was to have indorsed the notes, but by an oversight was not required to.

Asks for Reimbursement.

Later the elder Laughlin paid the $20,000, and wired to his son to hasten to Chicago and collect what was owed to him by Goldberg. On his arrival, the plaintiff alleges, he found that Goldberg had entered bankruptcy. The elder Laughlin advised his son to settle with Goldberg for what he could get, and promised to make good the difference, the petition says. Goldberg paid $18,000, leaving $42,000 still due the plaintiff. He declares that his father has refused to reimburse him, and asked that he be compelled to do so.

In 1901, the charges continue, the younger Laughlin, as owner of the Porter Bakery Co., agreed to lease the plant to his father for a term of three years, in return for which Henry Laughlin contracted to buy $10,000 cash into the concern's treasury. The latter was not done, it is alleged, and Elmyr Laughlin himself had to pay the $10,000 due the concern.

Later, it is declared, the son, in deference to the wishes of his father, consented to sell the Porter Battery for $7500, $2500 less than it was worth, to Dr. William A. Tichenor of Chicago, a colse personal friends of Henry Laughlin. In payment Elmyr Laughlin accepted $2000 of stock in the West Coast Co. and the physician's notes for the rest.

Dr. Tichenor eventually refused to pay the balance, the petition says, and when the plaintiff was about to bring suit, Henry Laughlin persuaded him to arbitrate. The mediator chosen, it is set forth, was another physician, who proved to be Dr. Tichenor's financial backer, and who

GRAND JURY TO TAKE UP VIVIANO KIDNAPING CASE

Boy, Who Was Released by Captors, and Parents Summoned as Witnesses.

QUESTION OF RANSOM

Father Won't Say Whether He Paid for Return of Lad; Boy's Story.

The grand jury will begin an inquiry Friday into the kidnaping of Frank Viviano, 8 years old, of 5855 Waterman avenue, who was released by his captors last night after having been held since March 1. The boy, his father, Gaetano Viviano, wealthy macaroni manufacturer, and his mother were summoned as witnesses in subpenas issued today.

The purpose of the grand jury will be to learn whether, as the police believe, the father paid a ransom for the boy's return, and to trace the crime to its perpetrators, whom the Vivianos, through fear, are believed to be shielding.

Kidnaping, under the State law, is punishable with the death penalty, and the fact that the stolen child is restored, or that the parents wish to drop the case, has no effect on the gravity of the offense. A parent, knowing the identity of anyone concerned in a kidnaping and shielding such a person, would be liable to prosecution for compounding a felony, it was stated in the Circuit Attorney's office.

Won't Admit Paying Ransom.

The father would not admit, when seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter, that he had paid a ransom, and said he had consulted some influential friends, who had promised to help him, and that the prospect of discovery had frightened the kidnapers into releasing the child.

His brother, Salvatore Viviano, said to the reporter recently, that Gaetano was in constant communication with "agents of the society," meaning the kidnapers, and that the delay in the boy's return was due to a dispute over the price, which was to be paid in gold. The family, almost from the first, refused to aid the police in investigating the case.

Questioned by Police.

The boy was taken this morning to police headquarters, where he was questioned. Later, destectives started out with him and his father in the effort to find the house where, according to his story, he was held prisoner. This house is believed to be not far from the place where he was found at 8:40 last night, the northeast corner of Fourteenth and O'Fallon streets. This corner was the starting point for the search today, and the Rev. Father J. J. Butler of St. Lawrence O'Toole's Church, who found the boy there, was with the detectives and the boy for a time.

In his first story of the kidnaping, told to policemen and reporters at the Waterman avenue house, soon after his return, the boy said his captors talked of being in East St. Louis. He said, however, that he crossed no bridge after he was taken away from his place of captivity, and that he walked not more than 10 minutes, turning several corners, to reach the place where he was found.

Describes Four Men.

The boy also told of six men as figuring in his experience, and described four of them. These descriptions have been sent to all the police stations.

The boy's story was told intelligently, though, because of his physical weariness, much questioning was required to get the details from him.

He said that on Thursday morning, March 1, shortly after 8 o'clock, he was walking alone on the south side of Waterman avenue, a few doors west of River des Peres, on his way to St. Roch's parish school. A man walked out from between two houses and said, "Are you going to school?" The boy said he was and the man invited him to ride in a wagon. Frank made no answer, but the man lifted him into the wagon, which had the words "Farmers' Market" painted on the sides, and which had a yellow cloth top and tarpaulin curtains.

Describes His Kidnapers.

Frank said the man who got him into the wagon was about 30 years old, and short, and that he wore a blue cap and a brown suit, and had a dimple in his right cheek. In the wagon were two men, one about the same age as the one just described, and with a similar dimple, wearing a brown soft hat and brown coat, with black trousers. The other man in the wagon he did not remember well enough to describe. The men were Italians, and, he believes, Northern Italians.

The men drove with him on Rosedale avenue to Delmar avenue, and passed his school without stopping. Frank said he then first realized that something was wrong, and that he screamed, but the man put both hands over his mouth and made him lie down on the floor of the wagon. Frank said he saw a schoolboy running after the wagon.

He said the ride seemd to last more than an hour and that he was taken out in front of a two-story brick house, old and rickety. He was taken up steps which, as he recalled, were parallel to the sidewalk and was placed in a second-floor room.

Guarded by Two Men

There, Frank said, he was guarded alternately by two men. One, known as Charlie, was tall, had a light mustache,

TRAFFIC MAN TELLS OF 3 WAYS TO BRING FOOD INTO THE CITY

River, Traction Line and Autos Can Be Used If Rail Strike Comes, He Says.

Philip W. Coyle, traffic expert of the Chamber of Commerce, today said there was little danger of St. Louis suffering from a food shortage immediately if a general railroad strike is declared. He explained that there are three methods by which the people could receive supplies from surrounding territory.

First, by way of motor trucks from the nearby country; second, by river steamers plying north and south, and, third, by way of the Illinois Traction System.

"I think we could easily get food from Illinois alone to last us for some time," Coyle said. "Of course, prices would go up to some extent and we wouldn't eat as great a variety as now possibly, but we would eat, and that would be the prime consideration.

EXPERT APPLE GROWER'S SLOGAN IS "LET US SPRAY"

Charles C. Bell of Boonville Says Action Now Virtually Will Insure Big Crop.

Charles C. Bell of Boonville, Mo., one of the leading apple growers of the State, came to St. Louis today with the slogan: "Let us spray."

As an expert he advises all owners of apple orchards to spray their trees with a lime and sulphur solution at once. This, he says, virtually will insure a big crop.

Bell says many orchards in Missouri had been attacked by a disease known as the San Jose scale, but that this could be eradicated by prompt spraying. If this precaution is taken, possible heavy April frosts will be the only other menace to the Missouri crop, he says.

AMERICAN STEAMER SUNK BY SUBMARINE; CREW IS RESCUED

Algonquin, Carrying Food to London, Was Destroyed by Shell Fire and Bombs on March 12.

RECENTLY TRANSFERRED FROM BRITISH REGISTRY

By Associated Press.

LONDON, March 14.—The American steamship Algonquin has been sunk by a Gercan submarine. The crew was saved.

The Algonquin was destroyed at 6 o'clock on the morning of March 12. The submarine refused assistance, according to the report of J. G. Stephens, American Consul at Plymouth. Twenty-seven men have been landed.

Consul Stephens reported that the captain of the Algonquin said his ship was sunk by shell fire without warning.

According to later advices from Plymouth, the German submarine opened fire upon the Algonquin from a distance of 4000 yards, firing about 20 shells. These were not sufficient to sink the steamer, so she was boarded by men from the submarine, who placed four bombs, and the Algonquin then was blown up. The crew had plenty of time to leave the vessel.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The American steamship Algonquin, with 16 Americans aboard, was sunk by a German submarine on March 12 with a loss of vessel and cargo valued at $1,700,000, according to a cable message received here today by her owners, the American Star Line.

The message to the owners said the vessel was torpedoed, but did not indicate where she was at the time. According to a consular report from Plymouth, England, the Algonquin's captain stated his ship was sunk by shell fire without warning.

The Algonquin sailed from New York on Feb. 20 with foodstuffs. Her destination was London. She was one of the first American ships to leave the United States after the German announcement of unrestricted submarine warfare.

Formerly a Canadian-owned boat under British registry, the Algonquin was transferred to the American flag last December when she was purchased by the American Star Line. She was a vessel of 1086 tons gross, 245 feet long and 40 foot beam. She was built in 1888 at Glasgow and was owned in New York. She was a single screw steamer.

She carried about 2000 tons of cargo and was commanded by Capt. A. Nordberg, a naturalized American of Norwegian birth.

When she left here on Feb. 20, her owners expected her to reach the submarine zone about March 5. It was assumed here today that she want considerably out of her course.

Prior to sailing, the Algonquin's captain said he had no fear that his vessel would be torpedoed.

"I feel safer in sailing through the war zone on a vessel flying the American flag than I do trying to make my way about New York streets and dodging taxicabs," he said.

Among the American citizens on board were William T. Holmes of Chicago, mate, and Charles Schults of Brooklyn, chief engineer. Her owners agreed to give the officers a war bonus of 50 per cent in wages and the crew a bonus of 25 per cent with the proviso that in case the vessel were captured or destroyed the men were to be paid the bonus with their wages until they returned to the United States.

The fact that the Algonquin was transferred recently from British to American registry, leaves the status of the ship under unternational law in question. As a rule the transfer of a belligerent vessel to neutral registry has not been recognized as giving the vessel the rights of a neutral.

Washington Views Algonquin Case as Not Changing the Situation

WASHINGTON, March 14.—In the absence of official dispatches on the destruction of the steamer Algonquin officials withheld comment, but the unofficial view is that nothing in the incident changes the situation between the United States and Germany.

President Wilson already has taken steps to place the nation in a state of armed neutrality which, with the breaking of diplomatic relations with Germany, is virtually the last measure possible short of war.

The Algonquin carried foodstuffs which are contraband, and she recently was transferred from British to American registry, a transaction Germany might plead she would not recognize, but these facts are not taken to outweigh the one that the ship is reported to have been destroyed without warning. That apparently no lives were lost does not mitigate the situation. However, the real issue of peace or war is expected to come when an American armed ship has a clash with a German submarine.

Norwegian Ship Reported Sunk Outside of Blockade Zone.

LONDON, March 14.—The Norwegian steamer Lars Fastenaas (Lars Fostenes), bound from America for Rotterdam with grain for the American Relief Commission, has been sunk without warning outside the blockade zone, according to the Norwegian Mercantile Shipping Gazette.

This announcement is contained in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen. The Central News says

The Lars Fostenes is a new Norwegian steamer of 1359 tons net. She was last reported as sailing from New York Dec. 19 for Rotterdam.

POLICE BELIEVED FREE BRIDGE ROADWAY WAS CAVING IN

Hurry-Up Report to Service Board Brings Explanation of "Sunken Pavement."

Like Chicken-licken in the nursery tale, who thought that the sky was falling because a leaf fell on her head, policemen today got the idea that the free bridge roadway was caving in, because something had happened to a section of the wood paving blocks. A hurry-up report was sent by the Police Department to the Board of Public Service to the effect that the concrete and sand base of the road was believed to be giving way and that the pavement had sunk three inches. A space 85 feet long and four feet wide, on the west span, was roped off from traffic.

Street Department officials in charge of the bridge said the only trouble was that some of the wood blocks had swollen from moisture, and had been taken up to be replaced. The base is good for 100 years, they said.

BRITISH CAPTURE CREST OF RIDGE WEST OF BAPAUME

Noted Loupart Wood, From Which English Have Been Shelled for Eight Months, Seized.

Paris Reports Bridges and Supplies Are Being Destroyed by Germans Back of Their Inner Line.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, March 13, via London, March 14.—The ridge overlooking Bapaume from the northwest, which has come to be looked upon by the British as a sort of promised land ever since the battle of the Somme began last July, passed into the hands of Gen. Haig's troops today. For the first time since the great struggle on this front opened the British have the advantage of the highest ground and can now look down upon the famous German stronghold and a wide extent of the country beyond.

British officers believe they are now in a position to take Bapaume whenever the word is given. Grevillers was captured last night and the new British lines stretch along the ridge which runs northwest from that point to the outskirts of Achiet Lepetit, a point still strongly held by the Germans.

Artillery Post Taken.

In this latest forward movement the British have taken possession of the noted Loupart Wood, consisting of great clumps of trees situated on the shoulder of the high ridge and overlooking the entire Somme battle front. This wood has masked a great number of German batteries, and from it hostile shells have rained upon the British for eight months. Its capture has been the source of the highest satisfaction to the British staff, as it was one of the most formidable artillery posts the Germans had established in the western theater.

The country about Loupart Wood and beyond is in quite good shape. As a matter of fact, Grevillers was the first touch of real civilization, the Tommies said, they have had in many moons.

Tommies See Real Houses.

"Why," said one stalwart Australian today, "do you know there are regular houses in Grevillers, with real roofs on them?"

What this means to men who have fought so long in the slough of mud of the Somme Valley can only be grasped by those who have lived amid the hideous scenes of destruction. The Germans have always hitherto had the advantage of the high ground and the villages, possession of which have been so bitterly contested, have been nothing but pulverized ruins which offered no shelter for the soldiers.

Where fires are not burning the country back of the German line looks green and wonderfully inviting.

British Advance Mile on 3½-Mile Front, Report Says.

LONDON, March 14.—The official report from British headquarters in France announces the abandonment by the Germans of their main defensive system west of Bapaume on a front of three and one-half miles. The British troops drove back the German rear guard to a depth of a mile and occupied Grevillers and Loupart Wood. The report says:

"In consequence of our bombardment of his positions yesterday, the enemy abandoned his main defensive system along the forward crest of the ridge west of Bapaume on a front of three and one-half miles.

"During the day our advancing troops have driven back the enemy's rear guard in this area for a depth of a mile and have occupied the village of Grevillers and Loupart Wood."

Germans Destroying Bridges Along Inner Lines, Says Paris.

PARIS, March 14.—Reports from aviators show that all along their inner lines on the Somme front the Germans are blowing up bridges and culverts, burning munitions and provisions, while trying to mask the withdrawal of heavy guns by heavy firing with field guns.

German staff headquarters on the Somme front is said to have been moved back 10 miles. The Matin thinks that the German staff at first planned a strategic retreat so as to delay and upset the British plant of attack, but that this scheme was frustrated by the tactics of Gen. Gough. Instead of using cavalry against his retreating foe, Gen. Gough maintained contact by the methodical and destructive use of artillery.

Gen. Gough, who is mentioned in the Paris newspapers as the field commander in the British operations against Bapaume, is presumably Major-General Hubert de la Poer Gough, commander of the Third Cavalry Brigade. Gen. Gough is an Irishman, and prior to the war, then a Colonel, received prominence as one of the officers who threatened to resign if British troops were ordered to force Ulster into acceptance of home rule. In the early days of the war he was praised by Field Marshal French for his conduct in the fighting following the battle of the Marne and was promoted to be Major-General in November, 1914.

Germans Report Hints at Union of Forces for West Front Decision.

BERLIN, March 14.—The only permissible clew to the mystifyingly west front situation is offered by Maj. Moraht, the Tageblatt's critic.

"Why should we be disinclined to shorten our west front in a strategic sense?" he asks. "We can, without harm to the prestige of our leadership, employ the means which were employed by English leadership at Gallipoli. Did Hindenburg's elastic bending back of his front before the Vistula do any harm? We first gave up Transylvania in order afterward to beat Rumania.

"What, after all, do we give up as the result of a large-scale front shortening? A desert waste, a terrain as unfavorable and fatal for the enemy who follows to march over as there ever was.

"Why not build one dam on better ground? Would we not save our forces as a result of a shortening such as Hindenburg and Ludendorff alone could carry out? Shall we not gain concentrated strength if these new positions can with fewer means be held against the enemy's great numerical superiority? The main fact, however, remains that by means of a large-scale front shortening we should find it easier to pave the way for the union of forces necessary for the main decision on a broad front."

English Attacks on Somme Repulsed, Says Berlin.

BERLIN, March 14, by wireless to Sayville.—British troops on the Somme front attacked the German lines yesterday afternoon and at night in the Ancre sector, the War Office announced today. They were repulsed with heavy losses. The statement reads:

"North of Armentieres British detachments were driven away by our fire.

"In the Ancre sector the British attacked in the afternoon without artillery preparation between Achiet Le Petit and Grevillers and at night after strong fire on both sides of Bocquoy. They were repulsed with heavy losses and left 50 prisoners in our hands.

"In the Champagne engagements south of Ripont continued with varying results.

"On the east bank of the Meuse advances by the French failed near St. Mihiel. One of our river posts was pushed back."

French Report Heavy German Losses in the Champagne.

PARIS, March 14.—Two violent counter attacks were made by the Germans yesterday evening on positions captured by the French in the Champagne Monday. The official announcement today says the attacks were repulsed and that the Germans lost heavily in grenade fire around Maisons de Champagne and Hill 185. The French captured new trench elements.

South of St. Mihiel the French obtained possession of Romainville Farm, taking 30 prisoners. They also entered German trenches between the Meuse and Apremont, bringing back a number of prisoners.

German surprise attacks near Lassigny and north of Soissons were defeated.

Gen. Maude Gives Details of Capture of Bagdad.

LONDON, March 14.—Lieutenant-General F. S. Maude, telegraphing Sunday, gives the following details leading up to and subsequent to the capture of Bagdad early Sunday. The text of Gen Maude's account follows:

"Saturday evening we maintained close touch with the enemy on both banks of the Tigris south of Bagdad. During the night the enemy evacuated his entire trench line, while we pushed forward in close contact. Before dawn Sunday a general advance on both banks was ordered, and at 5:55 o'clock in the morning we occupied the railway station, the city being entered shortly afterward. Our cavalry pushed forward in pursuit, and after slight resistance occupied Kasimain, capturing over 100 prisoners and four damaged airplanes.

"Our gunboats then took up the pursuit.

"During this recent fighting fierce gales and blinding dust storms, the lack of water away from the river and the vigorous pursuit made the operations arduous."

Russian Destroyers Repulsed by German Seaplanes.

AMSTERDAM, March 14.—A battle between German seaplanes and Russian destroyers in the Black Sea is reported in an official statement issued by the Berlin War Office. The destroyers were approaching Constanza, the Rumanian port, and were forced to retreat, the statement says, after bombs had been dropped upon them by the seaplanes. One destroyer is said to have been hit twice.

Brass Too Valuable for Currency.

PEKIN, March 14.—A currency stringency threatens China because of the export of brass "cash" coins which, owing to the high price of copper, are more valuable as metal.

Shortage of Matches in England.

LONDON, March 14.—Referring to the shortage of matches in England, William C. Edwards, head of an extensive manufacturing concern, said he did not believe there was more than one week's supply of foreign-made matches in the country.

Act of War and Cause of War Are Defined

Why Wilson Wants to Use Force

By STERLING E. EDMUNDS, Lecturer on International Law St. Louis University Law School.

SINCE the power to declare war is confided by the Constitution to Congress alone, much discussion has occurred among the members of Congress as to the wisdom of delegating to the President such authority to use the land and naval forces of the United States as may result in war.

On Feb. 6, in a Senate debate on bill No. 6811, authorizing the President to use the land and naval forces to compel respect for our neutral obligations, Senator Cummins proposed the following amendment:

"Provided, that this shall not authorize the use of such forces at a time or in a manner that would make their employment an act of war."

The debate then went into a discussion of an "act of war" as distinguished from a "cause of war." Senator Fall of New Mexico said:

"The attack of the naval forces of this country upon Vera Cruz was an act of war, as it was made for a reason that, in my opinion, was a cause of war. Had it been made for the purpose, as I urged upon the Senate that they should so declare, of protecting American citizens, while it would have been an act of war, it would not have been a cause of war.

"The bombardment of Greytown fifty odd years ago was an act of war; it was even protested against by Great Britain, under whose protection the Mosquito coast was at that time; but it was not a cause of war, because it was for the protection of American citizens. It was in pursuance of our duty as a Government to our own people.

"The marching of the armed forces of the United States into Pekin was an act of war; it was not a cause of war. The attack by the naval forces of the United States upon Japan in 1854 was an act of war; it was not a cause of war, because it was in pursuance of our constitutional duty to protect our seamen and our citizens against piratical and unwarranted attacks."

The distinction Senator Fall sought to make is that the use of necessary force by one state to vindicate its rights against another state denying those rights, is not a cause of war, although it may be an act of war and may result in war.

An act of war may consist in any intentional use of force by one state against another, without regard to its defensive character. A cause of war, on the other hand, may be defined as any willful denial by one state of the essential rights of another. So that it may be said Germany's actions, in drowning our citizens who are rightfully traveling on the seas, are a cause of war, which we may defend ourselves against by declaring war, or by force not intended as war. Yet, if in the use of force the necessities of self-defense should require one of our warships to destroy a German submarine, that would undoubtedly amount to an act of war. It would not, however, be a cause of war, since it would involve no denial of Germany's rights.

Whether acts or causes of war result in war depends upon the state affected. The modern view is that there must be an intention, usually evidenced by a declaration, or war does not exist, even in the midst of armed violence. Says the eminent authority, Westlake:

"It (war) can be set up only by the will to do so, but that will may be unilateral, because the state of peace requires the concurrent wills of the Governments to live together in it, and is replaced by a state of war as soon as one of these wills is withdrawn."

It appears to be President Wilson's intention to preserve peace with Germany, while using such force as may be necessary for the ends of self-defense, in which event war would come only by a declaration of contrary intention by Germany.

SAYS TRAINMEN DON'T PLAN COMPLETE TIE-UP

Railway President Learns They Wil Operate Limited Number of Freight Trains.

The president of one of the big Southwestern lines, who does not care to have his name used, told a Post Dispatch reporter this morning that he had learned from union leaders that the plans of the trainmen, in the event a strike is declared, contemplate permitting the operation of a limited number of freight trains. He declared it has been learned by the railroads from sources within brotherhood counsels that the strike will not be ruthlessly declared at first, but is to progress to that point, just as the strike is to spread from system to system if the demands of the men are not met at Thursday's meeting with railroad managers in New York.

Railroad men have been informed, according to this official, that passenger service is not to be disturbed on any railroad at the initiation of strike. But the men propose to inform the roads, it is said, that no freight cars are to be attached to passenger trains or passenger cars to freight trains with the aim of evading the purpose of the freight tieup.

It has been learned, he said, that the men will permit one railroad in each distinct territory, one in the Southwest, West, North and East to operate a full freight train service for freight, the idea being to provide an artery through which may pass, from one part of the country to the other, food and perishable goods. The railroad heads regard this as a bid on the part of the men for favorable public sentiment.

Most of the 250 delegates to the meeting of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, representing the Southwestern lines, held yesterday at the American Annex, left last night for their homes, following an executive session lasting four and a half hours.

E. C. Curtis of Crystal City, Tex., vice president of the Order of Railway Conductors, who presided at the meeting, declined to discuss the business transacted.

"Anything that is said of this meeting will have to come now from the meeting of the officials of the brotherhoods, which will be held in New York," he said.

It was apparent that all of the delegates had been instructed to say nothing and guards were stationed at the elevators to keep reporters off of the floor on which the delegates were in session.

Curtis said that the power vested in the chiefs of the brotherhoods last fall terminated with the conclusion of the negotiations at that time and that it was necessary again to give them the authority by a vote of the various councils. He would not say whether or not a vote was taken at the meeting in the Annex.

During the session a number of men, seemingly a committee, retired from the main meeting and went to another room, where they were in conference about 15 minutes before returning to the large banquet room, where the session was held. Several speeches were made in the meeting and these brought forth frequent loud applause from the delegates.

given to the President of the United States.

"Surely the public must recognize that for more than a year we have made every effort to secure a shorter work day, and our membership realizes that this question should be disposed of and industrial peace restored before our country becomes involved in war, which now seems probable.

"Seemingly, it has been the purpose of the railroad companies to postpone final settlement of this question until either a panic or war would defeat our demands."

Unofficially, brotherhood officials emphasized their determination to allow nothing to prevent the strike except concessions from the railroads. They declined to discuss their course if the Supreme Court should rule the Adamson act is constitutional. It is possible that a decision will be announced by the Court Monday, the next decision day.

HIGHER A MOUNTAIN LIGHTER THE MATERIAL UNDER IT

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Researches by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey prove that mountains are not held up above the surface of the sea by the rigidity or strength of the earth's materials, but that they are held in place by the fact that underneath them the materials, in the outer portion of the earth, are lighter than normal. The higher the mountain or the plateau, the lighter is the material under it.

The principle is exactly the same as that involved in the floating of an iceberg in the ocean. The portion of the iceberg which is visible above water is held up by the large mass of ice, with a density lower than that of water, in the submerged portion of the berg. So, in the case of the mountain mass, the portion above the sea level is held up by the lighter material under the mountain, which extends down to a depth of about 60 miles. While the mountain is held up or floated by a lighter material under it, the bottom of the ocean is depressed because the material under it to a depth of about 60 miles below sea level is heavier than normal.

The normal condition may be considered that which obtains in the large river valleys and under the coastal plains.

HIGH SCHOOL MILITARY TRAINING PLANS MADE

Instruction by Army Drillmaster Will Begin Friday or Monday of Next Week.

Military training in the six St. Louis high schools will begin Friday or next Monday, it was announced today at Board of Education headquarters. Thus far, 532 boys in the six schools, out of 3796 eligible for such instruction, have been enrolled.

The largest proportional enrollment is in Yeatman High School, Natural Bridge and Garrison avenues, where 142 of 566 boys, or 25 per cent, have been enrolled. In Soldan High School, 240 of 1004 boys have volunteered; in Central, 40 out of 684; in McKinley, 40 out of 680; in Cleveland, 40 out of 572; and in Sumner (negro), 30 out of 290.

Assistant Superintendent W. J. S. Bryan will be in charge, for the school authorities of this branch of instruction. The instructors, at the outset, will be Maj. Charles E. Stadter of Jefferson Barracks, as supervising instructor, and three army Sergeants, as drillmasters. The Sergeants assigned are: Charles J. Bell Jr., McKinley and Cleveland schools; William McGowan, Central and Soldan, and Raymond Allen, Yeatman and Sumner. It is hoped that later an instructor can be provided for each school.

The work will vary in alternate weeks. One week there will be three one-hour drill periods, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The next week there will be periods of an hour and a half on Tuesday and Thursday, which will include rifle practice.

The boys in each school will choose, by majority vote, the sort of uniforms to be worn. A West Point cadet uniform and cap will cost $13.50 a suit, while an olive drab costume of army khaki will cost not more than half that amount.

Those who enroll for the course are required to stick to it for one school year, but no future obligation of military training or service is entailed. Assistant Superintendent Bryan hopes arrangements will be made by which the students taking this training will be taken to summer camps for drill at the Government's expense.

The rifles are expected to arrive in a few days. They are small 22-caliber rifles, said to be the regular army practice model.

A few boys in upper classes who, as members of militia organizations, went to the Mexican border last summer, are among those enrolled, and they will be named as non-commissioned officers.

CORONER'S JURY EXONERATES ST. JOSEPH WOMAN SLAYER

Killed Man With Whom She Had Been Living When He Broke Into Room With an Ax.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 14.—Mrs. Estelle Libbe, exonerated yesterday by a Coroner's jury for the killing of William Moseley Monday on her plea of self-defense, is a member of an old and well-to-do St. Joseph family.

She was divorced by her husband several years ago and about the same time Moseley's wife obtained a divorce from him.

Mrs. Libbe shot and killed Moseley, with whom she had been living when he broke into her room with an ax. A negro maid was the only witness to the shooting.

returned a decision in favor of his fellow doctor. The elder Laughlin then promised, his son asserts, that he would make the balance good if further proceedings were dropped. He has failed to keep his promise, Elwyr Laughlin complains.

Tells of Saving Hotel.

In 1903 the elder Laughlin represented to his son, the petition proceeds, that, unless he could raise $25,000 immediately, he would lose possession of the Great Northern Hotel, valued at $1,000,000. The younger Laughlin raised $12,500, and his father got the rest from another source. Up to 1915, the plaintiff relates, his father repeatedly expressed his gratitude for the service, and declared he would make his son a gift of $100,000. The gift failed to materialize, and the plaintiff demands $1000 for aiding his father to keep possession of the hotel.

It is related that, in 1909, Henry Laughlin persuaded his son to permit him to sell for him some real estate valued at $2500. The elder Laughlin sold it to a friend for $50, the petition alleges, and put the $50 in his own pocket, refusing to surrender this or any other part of the value of the property.

In the same year, the petition alleges, Henry Laughlin made his son president of the Joleit Railway Supply Co. at a salary of $5000 a year, and promised, if the concern ever became worth $100,000, to give it to him. In return, the latter surrendered to the company his aptent on a bearing for car wheels. In two years, it is said, 8000 bearings were sold at a profit of $10,040, which Henry Laughlin is charged with taking for himself.

Later, when Henry Laughlin thought he was dying of meningitis, it is related, he repudiated all of his promises to his son, saying he had ruined the company and overdrawn its funds. The suit demands that Henry Laughlin be requirer to pay $10,040 on account of the sale of bearings.

Says Father Sold Concern.

Elmyr Laughlin in 1908 organized a company to sell a vacuum cleaner he had invented, but was induced by his father, he alleges, to sell it in order to go into the brake beam manufacturing business, which Henry Laughlin said was more dignified. The elder Laughlin sold the concern to G. B. Henger for $10,000, it is alleged, and pocketed the entire sum, refusing to give his son a penny, although the company was the latter's porperty.

In the Spring of 1916, the stay concludes, father and son engaged a board of Chicago attorneys to straighten out their accounts, but Henry Laughlin backed out when their report was made. It is represented that for the most part their transactions were made under verbal agreements, in which no written contracts were executed.

Henry Laughlin was Judge of the St. Louis Circuit Court about a quarter of a century ago. One of his sons, Randolph Laughlin, is a St. Louis attorney, with a handsome estate, "Loch Lin," on the Creve Coeur line in St. Louis County. Judge Laughlin is in Chicago and could not be reached this morning for a statement.

GIRLS FORCED TO DO WORK OF HORSES ON THE FARM

Mother Charges Employment by Father Is Cruel Treatment Sufficient for Divorce.

LISBON, O., March 14.—Mrs. Charles H. Moore, who has filed suit for divorce here, charges that her husband, father of the two girls, one 14 years old and the other 13, has during the last year used the two children as dray horses on the farm. The two children, the wife alleged, were made to pull wagon loads of materials and do other work about the farm which is ordinarily done by horses.

Mrs. Moore in her petition declares that forcing the children to do the labor of dumb animals was only one of the hardships she and her family of seven children had to submit to. One of the girls since she was 10 years old had to get up every morning at 5 o'clock, carry the horses and do the work around the farm, while the husband was lying in bed.

Moore, according to his wife, owns tracts of land aggregating 25 acres besides several buildings. She asks alimony enough to support herself and the children.

GARDNER MAKES APPEAL FOR TAX COMMISSION BILL

Declares Petty Political Patronage Issue Threatens Defeat of Measure.

REPUBLICANS AGAINST IT

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 14.—Gov. Gardner told newspaper men today that a fight for petty political patronage threatens the passage of the tax commission bill.

Almost unanimous opposition of Republican members to a conference report on the bill yesterday means defeat for the bill unless it can get united Democratic support, which the Governor thinks is not possible.

An amendment adopted by the Senate to the bill abolishes one clerk in the office of Auditor Hackmann, a Republican.

Under the present law a clerk from the Auditor's office is secretary to the State Board of Equalization. The Senate amendment to the tax commission bill provides that the secretary of the Tax Commission, to be selected by a Democratic commission, must also act as secretary to the Board of Equalization. Republican opposition to the bill is based on the fact that the amendment deprives Hackmann of a clerkship.

"Damn the patronage," said the Governor. "They can have all the patronage in my office if they will pass this bill."

Representatives Schuedding, of St. Louis; Settle of St. Louis County, and Eckhoff of Osage County were the only Republicans who voted for the conference report. Several Democrats voted against it.

"The bill is not a party measure," Gardner said. "The Democrats never have caucused on it, and it probably is within the power of Republican representatives to defeat it, but if it is defeated over a petty question of patronage, the people will know where to place the responsibility."

PAPER MAKERS ARE PLANTING MANY TREES

One Maine Firm Is Reforesting Land Denuded by Its Mills.

BANGOR, Me., March 14.—In the last five years Julius Shutt, head of the forestry department of the Pejepscot Paper Co. at Lisbon Falls, has planted and raised 750,000 trees, 500,000 of which have been transplanted in land owned by the company, as the paper makers, themselves among the greatest consumes of timber, are now foremost in preserving the forests.

The company owns 100 acres in Durham, 40 in Bowdoin and other tracts in Madrid and Reddington, and, besides the nursery in Lisbon Falls, they have one in Quebec and another in New Brunswick. Shutt and his helpers never will cut some of the trees they plant. "They are for the next generation," he says, for among the trees he raises is the white pine, which is not ready for timber in much less than 75 years, while a century is better. Besides the white pine, he raises Scotch spruce and Norway pine, which will be ready for cutting in 20 or 25 years. It is partly to provide for a future supply of pulp wood that the companies have interested themselves in forestry.

Forestry experts who have examined Shutt's trees have found them entirely free from what he calls the "tree sickness," especially the white pine blister. That, he says, is because he raised the trees from seeds grown in this country. The white pine blister came from Germany, and he considers that quite unnecessary, for the white pine is a native of North America and of none of the countries of Europe.

Shutt is a native of Germany, where the forestry laws are stringent. Forest land is always forest land. If a tree is cut down, the law requires the owner to set out another; if he fails to comply, the Government will do it at his expense. It is not only for the cultivation of the timber that these precautions are taken, though that is one of the most important considerations, but Germany has no mind to have whole towns flooded, as frequently happens in regions where all the timber has been cut.

BRITISH TOBACCO FIRMS PROSPER

Companies Earning More Than Before the War Began.

LONDON, March 14.—The year 1916 proved a very prosperous one for the British tobacco trade. Substantial profits were distributed by many firms, among them concerns that before the war had not been paying dividends.

The British-American Tobacco Co. (Ltd.) declared a dividend for the year of 20 per cent, the profits amounting to £13,301,900, against £9,003,300 in 1915, and in addition distributed a bonus. A Newcastle multiple-shop company had a net profit 117 per cent larger than in the preceding year; another important firm nearly doubled its profits.

and appeared to be about 20 years old. The other was about 45, clean shaven and had gray hair and a scar on his upper lip. He was called both Joe and John, and the boy believes he was not an Italian, like the others, but a Greek or Bulgarian.

Another Italian, the oldest of all, came in occasionally, the boy said, and would frighten him by flourishing a long knife and acting as if he were intoxicated.

In the room, Frank said, there were two chairs, two beds, a table and a stove, which gave little heat. The shutters of the two windows were kept closed and most of the light came from an oil lamp. On the first day, he said, he tried to read his school books, which he had brought with him, but after this he did little reading.

Bought Candy for Him.

His first meal, he said, was unbuttered bread and tuna fish, which was served to him wrapped in a piece of newspaper and which he had to eat with his fingers. He had water to drink and occasionally soda pop. Later he got macaroni, spaghetti and other Italian food, cooked in a way he disliked. Once, when he complained, the men went out and bought candy, bananas and cookies for him.

Both his guards slept in the room every night, Frank said, Charlie sleeping with him, and Joe, also known as John, in the other bed.

"If I would try to look out of the window," the boy related, "they would shake their fists at me. They never struck me, though. If I had even got a chance, I meant to open the window and scream for help, or to write a letter and throw it out. But they watched me too closely. Once, while one of the men was asleep, I got a chance to peep between the shutters, and I saw some negroes, who lived in a house across the alley."

Last Wednesday, the boy said, Charlie gave him pencil and paper and made him write a note, which, as nearly as he could remember it, was:

Dear Papa: I am sick. If you love me, send $50. If you do not, I will die. I send a kiss to you. Papa, I am sick. Send all the money to me, please. FRANK VIVIANO.

The father says he never got this note. The boy says that, after writing it, he gave it to Charlie.

"When I would cry and ask the men to let me go, they would say 'tomorrow,' Frank said. Last Sunday, I think it was, they said they would let me go Thursday. That was the day they brought me candy.

"Last night, Charlie said, 'Frank, here's 10 cents carfare for you. Put on your hat and coat. You can go home now.' I put on my things so quick that I forgot my gloves and school books, and started out with him. We walked 5 or 10 minutes, and turned around corners so that I can't tell which way we went. Then Charlie left me at a corner and told me to wait a minute. I waited, but he didn't come back, and then the priest found me."

Father Butler, after learning who the weeping boy was, took him to the parish house and washed his face and hands. He telephoned to the parents and the boy's father and uncle took him home in an automobile.

442 MORE CHICAGO SALOONS MUST OBEY THE SUNDAY LAWS

Restaurant Licenses of Foodless Cafes Are Revoked on Police Recommendation.

CHICAGO, March 14.—Saloons in this city which have been taking out restaurant licenses merely to enjoy the privilege of keeping open on Sunday, and which have offered the attraction of cabarets, have come to grief. In one day Mayor Thompson revoked 442 such licenses, on the recommendation of Chief of Police Schuettler, and at least that number of saloons will have to observe the Sunday-closing law.

"I maintain that these places were merely fake restaurants," Chief Schuettler said. "Many of them never served any food and had no facilities for cooking. Keepers of the saloons have been using their restaurant license as a subterfuge to evade the Sunday-closing law. I am confident that, with these places closed, enforcement of the Sunday-closing law in Chicago will be much easier."

Cabarets and "back-room cafes" in all parts of the city which have been posing as restaurants are closed by the order, which is the most sweeping blow at the saloons since the Mayor issued his Sunday-closing order a year ago last October.

DOES RHEUMATISMS BOTHER YOU?

Many Doctors Use Musterole

So many sufferers have found relief in Musterole that you ought to buy a small jar and try it.

Just spread it on with the fingers. Rub it in. First you feel a gentle glow, then a delicious, cooling comfort. Musterole routs the twinges, loosens up stiffened joints and muscles.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It penetrates to the seat of pain and drives it away, but does not blister the tenderest skin.

BERNSTORFF HOME; ADMITS HANDLING ZIMMERMANN NOTE

DENIES ALL "INTRIGUES"

Believes There Will Be War With This Country if U-Boat Sinks American Ship.

By CYRIL BROWN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
(Copyright, 1917, by Press Pub. Co.)

BERLIN, Tuesday, March 13.—"Will there be war between the United States and Germany?" Count von Bernstorff was asked in Copenhagen.

"That depends on our U-boat warfare. If we sink an American ship we shall undoubtedly get war. If not, I suppose we can avoid it," the Count replied.

"And if Germany sinks British ships with Americans aboard?" he was asked.

"That, after all, isn't the same thing," he said.

Asked if he had been correctly quoted by a Norwegian paper to the effect that President Wilson might not have been disappointed that Congress postponed the decision regarding warlike measures, Count von Bernstorff was silent.

When told many papers had reported that he sent a messenger with the famous Zimmermann note to Mexico and that the message had been intercepted on American soil, Bernstorff laughed. Then he answered, seriously:

"I don't know what happened. I am hard hit by the news, which first reached me at Christiania, that instructions to the Imperial Minister to Mexico passing through my hands had come to the knowledge of the American Government.

"How the American Government gained possession of those instructions, I don't know. There remains only the supposition that the English or American secret service gained possession of secret cipher in which the telegram was transmitted from Washington to Mexico.

"That the publication of the note has aroused the utmost attention in America is natural; likewise, that our enemies see in it a welcome means for increasing the existing excitement against Germany to a fever heat."

When told that many German foreign political experts had sharply condemned the Mexican alliance plan, Bernstorff answered: "It was a project for the eventuality of war. Who can say anything against it? According to the instructions to the German Minister to Mexico it is clear that if the United States did not declare war on Germany, Mexico would never have heard of Germany's intentions from a German mouth.

"As for 'German intrigues' in American countries, I want to state emphatically that we have always most decidedly declined to interfere in politics on the American Continent. All American assertions regarding German intrigues in Cuba and Colombia are fairy tales. I give you my absolute assurance that as long as I occupied the post of Imperial Ambassador in Washington, never did even the slightest indication come to my knowledge that the Imperial Government was seeking to influence the policy of the States mentioned or of other Central and South American States in a sense hostile to the United States.

"We have always pursued exclusively economic aims and frequently we have deliberately neglected fostering the great economic interests which we have in all these countries so as to spare the sensibilities of the United States."

The chief editor of the Hamburger Fremdemblatt met Bernstorff at Copenhagen. "It is with pride and joy," Bernstorff told him, "that I see how the German nation, in its not easy position, faces with raised head the consequences of the break with America, which I prevented as long as possible, and that the nation is firmly determined ruthlessly to defend its most sacred possessions."

Reaches Berlin on Special Train

Count Bernstorff and party came from Copenhagen on a special train, which reached here at 8:30 o'clock tonight. The Count met representatives of the Foreign Office and numerous personal friends, among them Dr. Bernhard Dernburg and Capt. Karl Boy-ed, former naval attache in Washington. Tearful welcomes marked the homecoming of the party.

It is understood Von Bernstorff has prepared a statement on Germany's dealings with Mexico which has gone to the Foreign Office, and, if it should be approved, it will be made public through the semi-official Wolf Bureau. It is believed to deal with the way in which the German instructions fell into the hands of the American Government.

INTERNED GERMANS RISK LIVES IN A TINY SAIL BOAT

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

MADRID, Feb. 20.—The daring exploit of 20 interned Germans who put to sea from Vigo, Spain, in a small sailing boat and after a month's battling with stormy seas in an effort to reach the Belgian coast and join their countrymen is told in the newspaper El Liberal:

The party consisted of 11 German officers interned in Pamplona, 195 miles northeast of Madrid, and nine others, including four officers of the Goeben, a naval doctor, a law student and two sailors—none of whom was interned—and a Sergeant interned at Alcala de Henares, 17 miles northeast of Madrid.

According to statements made by the Germans in the vessel which captured them the scheme for escape from Spain was organized in August. Lieut. Carl Koch being the prime mover. From Pamplona he got in touch with the German Vice Consul at Vigo, who promised all possible support and put him into communication with the officers of two German vessels which have sheltered in the bay since the beginning of the war.

Through Spanish intermediaries the little sailing ship Virgen del Socorro was purchased. Lieut. Koch, who obtained a pass to journey some 20 miles away, traveled with several companions by motor car and train to Vigo on Oct. 5 while Sergt Dietrich Gratschuss, in company with others, traveled from Alcala on Oct. 2.

Ship Sails and Returns.

To allay suspicions the Virgen del Socorro made a voyage to sea and returned to Vigo on Oct. 5 or 6 and moored alongside the German steamship Wehrt. The fugitives, who had scattered themselves over the hotels and lodging houses, set out one by one for the Wehrt, and immediately began transhipping provisions and stores from her to the Virgen del Socorro. At 2 a. m. on Oct. 7 this work was completed, the little vessel was towed outside the bay, and then, under full sail, turned her prow to the northwest. The little vessel was painted white—a ruse, it was thought, to disarm suspicion. She was so small that all the 20 men could not be on deck at the same time.

It was a perilous voyage, and for long days the little boat was the plaything of the waves. The suffering of those on board in the terrible weather encountered was intense. On Oct. 24 they found themselves some distance west of Bantry, in the south of Ireland. There the storm increased in violence, and the ship, battered by seas, seemed likely to founder. After a consultation it was decided to abandon the original plan of going round the British Isles, and the ship made for the Channel in the hope of making the Belgian or Dutch coasts.

Six Terrible Days.

After six terrible days the coast of Cornwall was sighted, and on Nov. 4 the Germans found themselves in sight of the Island of Lundy, at the entrance to the Bristol Channel. From there, proceeding slowly, they contrived to circle the Scilly Islands, turning by the Lizard on Nov. 6.

The daring adventure nearly succeeded, for the little ship eluded the patrols until on Nov. 8 the Ramsgate examiners came into the picture, when the Germans were practically within sight of the Belgian coast.

Throughout the whole of her journey the Virgen del Socorro had flown the Dutch flag, but when challenged by the English patrol vessel the German white ensign was displayed. She was brought to Ramsgate, where the captives were landed. Under escort the prisoners were taken to a restaurant on the sea front, but the proprietor, although a heavy sufferer through the war, refused to provide food for the enemies. Eventually they were taken to the sailors' home and given food.

Their vessel is still at Ramsgate.

It has no effect as a weight builder, but the diners said it filled the corners better than bread and coffee.

PARTISAN SCHOOL BOARD MEASURE'S PASSAGE IN DOUBT

Senator Brogan Indicates He May Not Push Measure, Which House Has Adopted.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

JEFFERSON CITY, March 14.—The partisan School Board bill for St. Louis, introduced in the Senate and House in the guise of a bipartisan measure, is expected to be amended when it is called in the Senate, to eliminate the feature which would permit party committees to elect organization candidates to membership on the St. Louis board virtually without opposition.

The bill was introduced in the House by Conners of St. Louis, and the Senate by Brogan of St. Louis. It has been passed by the House, and the House bill is pending for third reading and final passage in the Senate.

The measure limits the number of nominations to be made by either party for membership on the Board of Education to one-half the number of members to be elected.

Senator Brogan said the purpose of the bill was to make the board bipartisan by statute, as it was for many years under an agreement of political party committees. The measure is opposed by St. Louis educators on the ground that instead of improving the standard of the board it would result in making it more partisan. Political committees could choose the candidates and they could not be defeated in the general election, because there would be only as many nominees as members to be elected.

Brogan said today that he had no objection to an amendment proposed by Edward A. Raithel, a member of the board, giving the committee of either party the right to reject the nominees of the other party.

The Board of Education is opposed to the bill in any form, but, if it is to be passed, wants the amendment adopted. Its passage is in doubt. Brogan said today he would not be in a hurry to call it up, and that he did not desire to put through a measure to which the educational interests of the city had meritorious objections.

VENIZELOS TRACES GREECE'S TROUBLES TO THE ENTENTE

Unpopular Proposal to Give Bulgaria Macedonia Allowed King to Ignore Treaties, He Says.

PARIS, Tuesday, March 13 (delayed).—Former Premier Venizelos of Greece traces all the troubles of his country to the proposal of the entente that Eastern Macedonia should be ceded to Bulgaria, in the course of a statement given to the Havas correspondent at Saloniki. He reviews the events in Greece from the beginning of 1915 and explains and justifies his conduct.

"I am not exaggerating," he says, "when I say that without the entente's proposal in regard to Eastern Macedonia, the King would never have dared to refuse to fulfill our treaty obligations toward Servia."

The former Premier declared he only raised the standard of revolt when it became evident that King Constantine would never join the entente. He said he refrained from giving the movement an anti-dynastic character because the allies made that an express condition of their support and because the object he had in view was to carry out as far as possible the duties of Greece in respect to Servia.

THIRTY THOUSAND BRITISH SALOONS MAY BE CLOSED

Brewers Approve Measure as Solution of Problems Caused by Restricted Beer Output.

LONDON, March 14.—Thirty thousand saloons in Great Britain probably will be closed during the next few months, according to the Mail. The measure is proposed as a solution of the difficulty arising from the compulsory restrictions of the beer output and the brewers are stated to be in virtual agreement with the Government in regard to the remedy.

The closing of the saloons is said to have been suggested by some of the brewers. They contend there are too many distributing agencies and that a third of them could be suppressed without inconveniencing the public, while such a step would enable the liquor trade to be conducted more economically. The arrangement seems to be in brief a pooling agreement between the rival brewers who own the public houses.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

Seven Killed, American Endangered in Sinking of Cunard Freighter.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Seven lives were lost and one American placed in jeopardy in the sinking without warning by a submarine of the Cunard freighter Folio off the Irish coast Sunday. Consul Frost at Queenstown cabled the State Department this report:

"Seven lives lost in sinking Cunarder Folio, out of crew of 78. Folio bound New York to Avonmouth. Torpedoed without warning five miles off Ramhead, County Waterford, in heavy fog Sunday, 7:20 a. m. Dr. Core and officers reached Bristol this morning."

UNION STATION ON LEVEE SUGGESTED

Architect W. D. Crowell Presents Idea for Terminals to City Plan Commisssion.

Plans for establishment of a new union station and passenger terminals on the Levee, east of Third street and between Morgan street and Poplar street, the electrification of traffic in this zone and a loop for interurban cars have been presented to the City Plan Commission by W. D. Crowell, an architect. The commission has not yet considered Crowell's scheme.

Crowell estimates the cost of the improvements he has suggested at nearly $40,000,000, including $8,000,000 for the new station. The property needed for the station and tracks would represent an outlay of $24,000,000 Crowell estimates.

He proposes that the money for the project be raised by a bond issue, explaining that rentals for the use of the facilities by railroads, except the Terminal Association, would ultimately reimburse the city. If the city cannot finance the improvement, Crowell says, private interests might be induced to invest the money required.

Crowell's plan is that present buildings between Third street and the Levee, Morgan street and Poplar street, be razed; that the new station be built at the Third street level, with concrete streets at an elevation of at least 25 feet above the railroad tracks; that two interurban depots, one on each side of the railway station, be included; that a plaza from Third street to Broadway be established in front of the station, and that all express and baggage be handled in the subway beneath the interurban and railroad stations.

The advantage of the improvement, Crowell points out, would be to rehabilitate values east of Broadway and furnish better terminal facilities for the accommodation of passenger traffic.

PUT COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

There is no successful imitation of the glow of health.

Rich, red blood showing through translucent skin means not only beauty but health. When your color fades you will find that your heart palpitates on slight exertion, such as climbing stairs, and that your breath is short and you lack ambition. All these things are symptoms of an anemic condition, of thin blood.

Try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Eat nourishing food, exercise a little in the open air daily and watch the color return to cheeks and lips. If you are below your normal weight you should take on one or two pounds a week under this treatment. And the first sign of improvement will be in your appetite.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills tone up the digestive organs and the re-vitalized blood carries nourishment that means strength to every part of the body.

TELLS OF RED CROSS RULES IN TIME OF WAR

Sterling E. Edmunds Gives Exposition of Regulations at Washington U.

In an address before the personnel of the Base Hospital Unit No. 21, at the Washington University Medical School, last night, Sterling E. Edmunds, lecturer on international law at St. Louis University, gave an exposition of the rules governing members of the Red Cross in time of war, and their modification under present military conditions.

The first article of the Geneva convention, he said, providing that the wounded shall be cared for, without distinction of nationality, by the belligerent in whose power they are, is often abused for the sake of military advantage.

"In our own Civil War," he explained, "the Confederate Government offered to turn over 15,000 wounded Union soldiers, without an equivalent. Lincoln refused, not wishing to lighten to that extent the burden of the South. In the earlier campaigns of the Russo-Japanese War, the Russians abandoned their wounded in such numbers as seriously to embarrass the Japanese sanitary service."

Another article, requiring the belligerent who remains in possession of the field, to search for the wounded after a battle, has been abrogated by modern trench warfare, said the speaker.

"Members of the Red Cross appearing between the trenches," he said are immediately shot. They are fired on even when appearing behind their own lines. Military necessity forbids any viewing of the defense by the enemy, when at close grips.

"The appearance of a Red Cross ambulance behind the lines, is the signal for immediate bombardment. The object of the attack is not the ambulance, but the road marked by it. That the ambulance, with its wounded and attendants may be blown into atoms, is an unfortunate incident."

Although the Geneva convention gives protection to sanitary formations and establishments, this is on condition that they are not used to commit acts injurious to the enemy.

For example, Edmunds pointed out, the Germans have shelled churches and other structures within the French lines on which the Red Cross flew. The German's plea was that the buildings, while housing wounded, were at the same time used as observation posts from which to direct artillery fire.

He declared that the members of a Red Cross unit may, without forfeiting their peculiar rights to protection, arm themselves and use their arms in self-defense or in defense of their wounded, but that they may not lawfully take the offensive.

Members exclusively in the Red Cross service may not be made prisoners of war in case they fall in the enemy's hands, said Edmunds, but their immunity depends upon correct conduct.

"They, like soldiers on active duty," said he, "are subject to military discipline. They are subject to the authority of the commander in whose power they happen to be. They are subject to all the penalties of active soldiers for violations of the laws of war. They may be severely punished for neglect of the enemy's wounded in their care."

A thrilling new record of "Dixie"

sung by Mabel Garrison

Dixie Mabel Garrison (With Victor Male Quartet)
Victor Red Seal Record 64637. Ten-inch, $1

Dear to all America is this beautiful song of the Southland. Its charming swing and dashing melody have made it perhaps the most popular of all our national airs.

This new inspiring interpretation by Mabel Garrison reveals the patriotic love that springs from a true Southern heart. It is a wonderfully stirring rendition—one that will endear "Dixie" still further to every American.

The exquisite brilliancy of Mabel Garrison's voice has earned her a place among the mighty group of famous Victor artists, and like all the world's greatest artists, she makes records for the Victor exclusively. She knows that only the Victor can bring her voice to you in all its original beauty and purity.

You can have the pleasure of hearing this new Garrison record at any Victor dealer's. He will gladly play any music you wish to hear and demonstrate the various styles of the Victor and Victrola—$10 to $400.

RASH ON HANDS ITCHING INTENSE

Also on Arms. Scratched Almost Night and Day. Turned to Crusts and Disfigured. Tremendous Burning. Cuticura Healed. Cost $2.00.

"A little rash of pimples came on my hands and arms, and later spread to my shoulders and face. It itched and burned intensely which caused me to scratch almost night and day. The pimples then turned to yellow crusts causing great pain when I washed. I was disfigured for the time and could not possibly put my hands in water. At night I barely shut my eyes on account of the terrible itching and tremendous burning.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I noticed a great improvement so I purchased more, and when I used two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and four cakes of Cuticura Soap I was healed completely." (Signed) Miss Hattie W. Selke, 6024 Justine St., Chicago, Ill., Sept. 2, 1916.

APPETITE GONE; ENERGY GONE; CONSTIPATED?

Take a Wineglassful of Tollo Water and Feel Fine in Thirty Minutes.

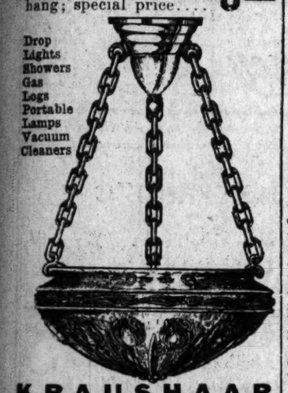

Your liver is fairly begging for help! Too much rich food and not enough exercise upsets the stomach and clogs the bile tubes in the liver, causing constipation, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, jumpy nerves, sleeplessness and a general run-down feeling.

Get a 15-cent bottle of Tollo Water from the drug store, and drink a third of a tumblerful in a glass of plain water before breakfast. In half an hour it will flush out the bile tubes, expel the bile from the system and make you feel fine.

This wonderful water comes from Dawson Springs, Kentucky. It does not act like drugs and oils but flushes the stomach, liver and bowels quickly and gently in Nature's way.—ADV.

ELECTRO-SILICON

First rub lightly with Electro-Silicon cream or powder and then polish it with a soft chamois. No better way of keeping silver bright has ever been found—it gives it the most wonderful satiny sheen. That is because Electro-Silicon is so fine and velvety smooth. It has never scratched or marred the surface of silver, but it chases away the tarnish at the first attack. YOUNG MAN SHOT IN HOME OF A VIRGINIA PROFESSOR Polytechnic Institute Teacher Surrenders After Visitor Is Wounded; He and Wife Refuse to Talk.

ROANOKE, Va., March 14.—Stockton Heath is in a hospital here today with three bullet wounds in his abdomen. Late yesterday afternoon, Prof. C. H. Vauter of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, at whose home, in Blacksburg, the shooting occurred, surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Camper and was taken to Christiansburg, where he was released on bond. After Heath had been on the operating table physicians said he had an even chance.

Vauter and young Heath had long been friends. It was the custom of Heath, when in Blacksburg, to go to the Vauter home, and Monday night he was a member of the family circle.

About 3 a. m. Vauter telephoned to the hospital of the Polytechnic that Heath had been shot. Since then he has declined to make any statement. Mrs. Vauter refuses to talk. Others in the house at the time of the shooting were the two Vauter children and a young man who was not awakened until after the shooting. The college attendants found Heath in pajamas in the upper hallway of Vauter's home. Clement Heath, a brother, is a Lieutenant in the army. Capt. Heath, his father, is in California.

BILL TAKING BRITISH TITLES FROM ENEMY PRINCES OPPOSED

Sent to Special Committee for More Consideration After Being Discussed in House of Lords.

LONDON, March 14.—The House of Lords yesterday passed the second reading of the bill to deprive enemy princes of British titles and dignities, after the Government had promised to refer the bill to a special committee for further consideration. This promise was made because of objections to the bill by some of the peers, who desired to shelve it, on the ground that it was absurd to regard certain Princes as traitors.

The Marquis of Lansdowne, admitted that the bill was only intended to apply to the Duke of Albany, the Duke of Cumberland and Prince Albert of Schleswig-Holstein, who are related to the British royal family and who, he said, could not possibly be regarded as traitors. He said the bill was a mere concession to public opinion, and required more examination than it had received, because if it was desirable to satisfy public opinion it would be needful to go much farther and deprive large numbers of persons fighting against England of their orders and decorations.

UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING MEASURE WILL BE PRESSED

Senator Chamberlain to Try to Have Extra Session of Congress Pass His Committee's Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, says that he will make an effort to have the Senate pass on the Universal Military Training Bill at the extra session of Congress. He will be supported by Senator Wadsworth of New York. The pacifists are preparing to make an extensive campaign of opposition.

"I think," said Senator Chamberlain, "that the sentiment in this country for universal military training is growing, and that it will ultimately extend to Congress. My fight for real preparedness has been discouraging at times, but I am more hopeful now than ever before.

"The advocates of universal training are not altogether in accord as to details, but they are agreed as to the necessity for the creation of a reserve citizen force to be utilized in case of war or threatened war. The bill as presented by my committee, the members of the committee believe, will harmonize with our institutions."

OBREGON TO RETIRE TO PRIVATE LIFE, HE WIRES CARRANZA

Mexican War Minister, Who Decisively Defeated Villa, Congratulates President.

QUERETARO, March 14.—Gen. Obregon, Minister of War, has sent a telegram to President Carranza, announcing his determination to retire to private life. Obregon expresses pleasure at the victory won by Carranza at the polls, which he terms the climax of the plans of the revolution. The President has received congratulations from Central, South American and European countries.

Gen. Alvaro Obregon is a Yaqui Indian and is generally credited with being the "strong man" of the Carranza administration and one of the ablest military leaders in Mexico. His greatest military achievement was the decisive defeat of Francisco Villa at Celaya, in April, 1915, in which battle he lost his right arm. There have been reports of friction between Obregon and Carranza, but these have been denied.

GIRL WEDS STRANGER TO INSURE GETTING ESTATE, LEAVES HIM

CHICAGO, March 14.—According to a story told by Dr. Gilbert H. Willis of Bombay, India, Miss Phillippa Hartley of New York was married yesterday to John Colfax, a Chicagoan, whom she never before had met, in order to insure title to the estate of Carleton Hannan of Bombay, the girl's uncle, who is said to be worth several million dollars. Dr. Willis said he induced Colfax to wed Miss Hartley and accept a specified amount with the unedrstanding that he would never again see his wife, and because he did not expect to live long on account of heart disease.

A marriage license gave the bride's age as 25 and the bridegroom's as 23.

Dr. Willis said Hannan had requested Miss Hartley to marry in order to satisfy a trust agreement, which he drew up to insure the bulk of his estate going to her without a contest by other relatives. A trust agreement in accordance with this arrangement was filed for record here. Mrs. Colfax returned to New York a few hours after Dr. Willis said the ceremony had been performed.

MORE MISSOURI PAPERS ASSAIL SENATOR STONE

SOME UPHOLD ACTION

Majority Say, However, That Senator Misrepresented Sentiment of State.

More editorials from Missouri newspapers with expressions of opinion as to the stand of Senator Stone upon the armed neutrality bill were collected by telegraph by the Post-Dispatch today. Tehy follow:

St. Louis (Sunday) Republic: A careful reading of the statement leaves no doubt of Senator Stone's sincerity, nor can it be shown that he willfully connived with the Senate filibusters to prevent a vote on the bill. Where he erred was in arguing the question on constitutional grounds when considerations of broad patriotism should have been uppermost. His position as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and adviser to the President gave his words an added weight and unquestionably stiffened the backbones of the filibusters, and, with the aid of the Senate rules, enabled them to accomplish their purpose.

St. Louis (Sunday) Globe-Democrat: Senatoor Stone indulges in many irrelevancies. The protection of American passengers was not involved in the resolution authorizing the arming of our merchant vessels. It was a question of protecting ships from lawless destruction and crews from assassination. To twist national protection of citizens in their rights of commerce into Government participation in that commerce is a bit of sophistry unworthy of a Senator. * * * Dragging in British violations of American rights is an odd defense from the chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. Why has he not urged drastic measures to check these violations? He has been in a position to make his influence felt. That we have not dealt as firmly with the entente allies as we should is a confession of negligence, and not a valid excuse for failure to carry out our promise to omit no word or act to defend our citizens from the horrors of lawless submarine depredations.

Kansas City Star: In connection with Senator Reed's statement that Senator Stone did not engage in a filibuster and that he did not endeavor to harass the President, are to be set these facts:

Senator Stone spoke for four and a ~~half~~ hours against the President's bill, leaving the floor at 6:15 Saturday evening, when the session was to expire Sunday noon.

In his statement given out at the White House Sunday night President Wilson mentioned no names, but said: "The Senate was unable to act because a little group of 11 Senators had determined that it should not. * * * A little group of wilful men, representing no opinion but their own, have rendered the great Government of the United States helpless and contemptible."

In view of this conclusive evidence, what is the use of beating around the bush and pretending? Why not come out frankly and say: "Yes, I took part in the filibuster. What are you going to do about it?"

Bethany Republican: They may hang them in effigy and roast them to a nice brown, but nevertheless there is an occasional American who is proud of the fact that there are a few Senators who have the courage of their convictions and refuse to be whipped into line at the behest of the President, right or wrong.

Nevada Post: The position shown by Congress on the virtual delegation of the war making power to the President was not an evidence of a lack of confidence in the chief executive nor was it proof of division in the willingness to finally assert the dignity of the nation. It was the prompting of wise caution, the patriotic desire to exhaust the last resource in the avoidance of a horrible waste of life.

Maysville Pilot: The sentiment expressed here on Senator Stone's attitude on the armed ship bill is that Stone's action has hindered the nation in its attempt to preserve its integrity before the world. It has cast reproach upon the Government, a slur upon the President and disgrace upon Stone and his allies.

Kirksville Journal: Senator Stone was clearly within his rights in opposing the legislation asked by the President. A member of Congress should do his own thinking and cast his vote in keeping with his honest convictions.

Houston Herald: Senator Stone has been breaking away from President Wilson's leadership during recent events at Washington; but at this trying time we believe all our statesmen are actuated by loyalty to our Government. * * * Senator Stone has been one of the President's chief advisers and we know him to be a wise and far-sighted statesman so let us withhold criticism.

Columbia Herald-Statesman: Congressman Shackleford, who voted against the armed neutrality bill, and Senator Stone, who assisted in the filibuster that killed it in the Senate, did not reflect the wishes of their constituents. The people of this section of Missouri, at least, have more confidence in President Wilson's judgment than they have in that of their representatives in Congress, and Missouri feels profoundly humiliated that two of her trusted servants should be tried at a critical moment and found wanting.

Carthage Press: Senator Stone is being scored for his opposition to the plan to arm American ships. The criticism is well founded and the Missouri Senator is sure to learn that his tactics are fully as unpopular in his home State as they are in the national Capital, but it might have been expected. The gumshod one has always prided himself on being consistently inconsistent. In the affair with Mexico he was on both sides of the question. Stone seems to have mistaken plain "bull-headedness" for "strength of character."

Fornfelt Tribune: Senator W. J. Stone, chairman of Foreign Relations Committee, one of our Senators, disagreed with President Wilson on the bill giving the President power to arm merchant vessels carrying munitions of war as well as other wares. He believed the bill was of such nature that it might lead to war. The bill was defeated during the dying hours of the Senate. It is remarkable in that this is the first instance that the President and Senator Stone have had an open break in legislative matters. Stone is about right in his contentions.

Bates County Record: The outcry against our Gumshoe Bill need not worry anybody in Missouri. A very short memory will recall the outcry against our Jim Reed, and yet he was returned to the United States Senate without difficulty by the very men who only a few months previous were howling because Jim was not supporting the President, and he is now one of the honored members of the Steering Committee of the new Senate. So do not worry about Bill Stone, treason or no treason.

A Drunkard s Plea. Tells How He Was Released From the Bondage of Alcoholic Slavery

Leading Druggists Guarantee Results.

My heart bleeds for every drunkard, and I sincerely wish I could meet them face to face and tell them how I was saved from the clutches of the demon drink. If this were possible thousands could be saved from drunkard's graves. Yes, my appetite for drink was completely destroyed. Here is the prescription that saved me: One prepared tescum powder twice a day, in coffee, tea or any liquid. Almost everything had been tried on me, without results, so don't experiment with anything but tescum powders, then you will not be disappointed. Since the powder is colorless, odorless and tasteless, it can be given secretly. It is intended to destroy the terrible craving. The results are so startling that druggists are refunding the money if it fails. (See money refund guarantee, which druggists are authorized to give when above prescription is filled). There is absolutely no risk on your part, so you have everything to gain and nothing to lose. Mothers and sisters are now able to cure their loved ones of this terrible habit with no expense if it fails. If druggists were not confident of success they could not afford to make such an offer. Have the prescription filled today, before you forget it.

Note: A leading druggist, when shown the above article, said: "Yes, tescum is a very remarkable remedy for the drink habit. It is harmless, wonderfully effective and is having an enormous sale. I advise everyone who wishes to destroy the liquor habit to give it a trial." It is sold in this city by Johnson-Enderle-Pauley, Wolff-Wilcox and all other first-class druggists.—ADVERTISEMENT.

MAIL ORDER BRIDE HARDLY WAITS TO GET ACQUAINTED

She Had Choice of 33 Bachelors, but Leaves His Home the Day After Wedding.

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark., March 14.—Miss Sarah Wortman of Oklahoma came to Three Brothers, a town in this county, married Thomas Herney, remained but one night and then returned home.

Miss Wortman and Herney were married after a brief courtship by mail, the young woman being being attracted by a publication setting forth that 33 bachelors were living on homesteads near Three Brothers. Not knowing the identity of any of the bachelors and, of course, having no preference as between them, she addressed a letter to Postmaster Abner Deatherage with request that he hand it to one of them. He conferred the distinction upon Herney, the correspondence ensued and then the wedding and the quick departure of the bride.

WASHING WON'T RID HEAD OF DANDRUFF

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—ADV.

BEIT NAAMAH MECCA FOR WOUNDED BRITONS

Sanitary Hospital Now in Operation for Men From Mesopotamia Front.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

BASRAH, Mesopotamia, Feb. 10.—Beit Naamah is the Mecca of the wounded, sun-scorched officer sent down from the Mesopotamia front to the base at Basrah.

Beit Naama is indeed a pleasant place, compared with what the officer has been used to at the Mesopotamian front. There are clean, white beds, electric fans and a broad roof on which the convalescents lie beneath mosquito netting and awning and enjoy the cool breezes.

The hospital stands about 20 yards from the right bank of the Shatt-el-Arab and occupies some 200 yards of the river front. Between the main building and the river is a grove of orange trees laden with fruit, and on the north side another garden produces grapes, pomegranites and figs.

The main building is constructed on the Oriental plan of courtyards, of which there are three—the men's the harem or women's and the outhouses with the hammam or Turkish bath. All are built around square gardens of orange trees.

When it was decided to convert the long-standing Beit Naamah into a hospital the nucleus of the staff arrived and encamped in the courtyard. The hause was full of Arabs and the women were still in the harem, while the sanitary conditions and general filth of the place were unmentionable. Arabs, women, furniture and all were cleared out, and everybody turned to the work of house cleaning with a will.

A whole village behind the main house had to be cleared away, cesspools 40 years old had to be filled up, rooms were scrubbed and whitewashed, water supply, drainage, kitchen and sanitary arrangements planned and executed and scores of minor matters attended to. Gradually stores and appliances were accumulated and in about a month the hospital was ready to receive patients.

Every evening nowadays a row of convalescent officers may be seen on the embankment under the orange trees, peacefully fishing. There is a fine breeze off the river and the air is free from dust. Many avow that here is the only spot in Mesopotamia which is really free from dust.

The chief event of the day's routine is the arrival of the steamer, officially known as "P-33." When her whistle is heard from beyond the bend everyone who is able to walk rushes down to meet her. Always there are a few new patients on board, sometimes the latest war news and sometimes letters from home.

As a Hospital center Beit Naamah has been the most successful experiment of its kind in the East. Eighty per cent of its patients have been able to return to duty, instead of having to be sent home or to India to recuperate.

U. S. ADVICE ON RESEEDING WINTER-KILLED OATS FIELDS

Extreme Cold Weather in February Caused Heavy Losses in Southern States.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The extreme cold weather in the Southern States during the first two weeks in February caused much winter killing of fall-sown oats. The yield from fall-sown oats is so much better than from spring-sown oats, however, that it will not be profitable to resow to spring oats unless much more than half the fall-sown oats were winter killed, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

It is best to delay reseeding a few days until it can be determined definitely whether or not there is a sufficient stand to justify leaving the crop to mature. Fields where it is certain that this crop was destroyed by cold may now be sown to spring oats with fair prospects for profitable yields if the seeding is done in February or early March. Only the most fertile land should be sown to oats in the spring, as this crop will not yield well from spring seeding on poor land.

The best varieties to sow at this time are Burt, Fulghum, Red Rustproof and Appler. The land should not be plowed, but the surface should be loosened by disking or thorough harrowing and the seed drilled in. If a grain drill is not available the seed may be sown broadcast and covered by disking and harrowing. The best rate of seeding is about three bushels to the acre of good seed.

'ONION BILL' IS REWARDED

Man Who Declined to Grow Anything Else Reaps Rich Harvest.

OREGON CITY, Ore., March 14.—William T. Johnson of Clackamas, who is known as "Onion Bill" because of his persistence for a long period of years in growing that vegetable, or whatever tribe of stuff it may belong to, has finally put to confusion those who have been criticising him.

Johnson has 11 acres of land, and last year planted every foot of it in onions, as is his wont. He has sold from his last crop about $15,000 worth of the produce and has on hand, at the prevailing price, enough to bring him $4120 more.

WOMAN'S KINDNESS REWARDED

Bachelor Whom She Nursed Leaves Part of Estate to Her.

MARSHFIELD, Ore., March 14.—Mrs. Ella Laingor, a Powers woman, was well rewarded for her kindness toward G. A. Brown, who died recently at Powers. Brown was a bachelor, and when he became ill Mrs. Laingor nursed him for several months at odd times. When Brown's will was probated at Powers it developed he had bequeathed his home and all its furnishings to Mrs. Laingor, valued at between $3000 and $4000.

The remainder of the property was willed to Mrs. M. Kelley, a cousin, who lives at Hibbing, Minn.

CAUCUSES ON THE SPEAKERSHIP

Democrats and Republicans at Washington Preparing for the Contest.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Conferences among Democratic House leaders yesterday resulted in a call for a caucus here on April 12 to line up Democratic members for the speakership fight. The Republicans will caucus, April 14, and the five independent, who will hold the balance of power, will confer about the same time.

Speaker Clark and Republican Leader Mann, candidates for the speakership, are taking pains to avoid appearance of sharp practice among followers. Mann urged Gov. Whitman of New York to call a special election to fill a vacancy in the Democratic Fifteenth District of that State and Speaker Clark telegraphed Senator Hollis of New Hampshire, asking that the State Legislature amend the laws so an election could be held before April 16 in the Republican district represented by the late Representative Sulloway.

ITALY PREPARES TO PROSECUTE WAR MORE VIGOROUSLY

Three Million Men Now in Field as Against One-Third That Number at Start.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

ROME, Feb. 10.—A comprehensive view of what Italy has been doing to perfect her organization of military, industrial and political forces may be gathered from data given to the Associated Press at the Ministry of War, where it is declared that Italy is now prepared to enter into a still more vigorous prosecution of the war.

It is frankly stated that Italy began the war with the feeling that she was a weak nation, poor in money and material resources, with an army that was unfitted to cope with that of Austria, which was far superior in artillery and which for many years had been planting heavy cannon in the fastnesses of the high mountains that lie between her and Italy.

The Italian general staff, in command of Gen. Cadorna, has never made a secret of the fact that when Italy's troops were first, in May, 1915, launched against the Austrian frontier, along a 500-mile front, defended by 25 divisions (625,000 men) of trained troops, it was with an Italian army of which perhaps a mere 200,000 men might be classed as trained troops, and troops which were lacking in artillery support, even in the very clothes needed to keep them warm in the mountains. Nor has it been a secret that, politically, Italy began the war divided into two parties, one of which was against war with Germany or any kind of war at all.

Cold Was a Problem.

One of the first enemies the Italian general staff had to conquer, after its first leap into Austrian territory, was cold upon the steep mountains, mountains that for two-thirds of its front vary from 7000 to 11,000 feet in height. This cold is often 6 degrees below zero (Fahrenheit). In the first line trenches the soldiers had to have the heaviest of clothing and boots, while wooden barracks had to be built for those in the second or reserve line. In addition, extra large quantities of food and proper cooking utensils had to be carried up to them, and roads had to be built so that wagons or automobiles could reach them rapidly. For a single army corps it was necessary to provide 300,000 board planks, 280,000 woolen blankets, shirts and pairs of socks, 80,000 waterproof capes, 60,000 fur coats and 10,000 fur sleeping sacks.

The Italian frontier trench line has been continually maintained at a length of 1800 miles, counting the second, third and fourth line trenches that have been dug for reserve purposes.

The new territory occupied beyond the old frontier is no less than 132 communes comprising an area of 3060 square kilometers, with a mountain population of 280,000 persons.

In order to reach the front through this territory with the enormous quantities of supplies needed, the combined forces of the army's engineering corps and that of Italy's department of public works were required. These two organizations began working in the early part of the war and until the present time have built 510 miles of new macadam road and rebuilt, widened and repaired 2445 miles of other roads. Irrespective of the regular state railroad forces, these above-named organizations have planned and built upwards of 150 miles of air-line cables for the handling of freight, 110 bridges and 200 miles of narrow gauge railroad.

There has also been done an immense amount of construction work in the way of wooden or cement barracks, storehouses, warehouses, hospitals, schools and cemeteries.

Operate 2179 Factories.

In order to secure the supplies for this new army, beginning perhaps with scarcely a half million men and now estimated at 3,000,000, the nation has put in operation a total of 2179 factories, employing 468,940 persons, of whom 72,324 are classed as skilled workmen. This total number of factories and plants is subdivided into 66 military establishments proper, employing 21,645 workmen and 12,474 women; 933 auxiliary factories employing 344,702 workmen and 85,253 women. Of these latter 91 turn out metal parts; 489 rifles, cannon, airplanes, automobiles, projectiles and cartridges, and 352 manufacture explosives, chemical products, and work over crude ores. There are, further, 1181 minor projectile factories employing 35,000 persons. To these totals must also be added a countless number of uniform and clothing factories, in every part of the land.

The war so far has cost Italy some $4,000,000,000, of which sum a little over one-third has been obtained through war loans subscribed by her own people. Notwithstanding these popular subscriptions and increased taxes, the national savings bank shows a decided increase of deposits.

Italy has on her northern frontier captured 85,000 Austrian prisoners, not counting a possible double that number of killed and wounded.

16 SHIPS ON WAY TO BELGIUM

Six More Relief Vessels Will Sail From U. S. This Week.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Herbert C. Hoover, head of the American Commission for Relief in Belgium, sailed yesterday for Europe. Referring to recent sinkings of relief ships, Hoover said it had 16 vessels loaded with grain on the ocean and would start six more this week. Ten millions of people depend for their lives upon the arrival of these cargoes before mid-April.

"We have lost 15 ships in the last two years, all insured, out of 500 voyages," he said. "It is unthinkable that most of our ships should not reach their destination. Every one that leaves a North Atlantic or Gulf port carries a safe conduct from the Swiss Minister, acting upon authority from the German Government."

ROSEATED
...nishes every complexion ...mish and gives new ...uty in three nights

Many a hollow-cheeked, wrinkled, sad-looking woman has "come back" and made herself look most beautiful, youthful and charming in from two to three weeks' time, after she had given up all hope of ever regaining her girlish attractiveness, by means of this wonderful simple method. Merely wash your face in warm water at night and rub in a teaspoonful or two of Creme Tokalon Roseated, which you can obtain from the druggist. In the morning wash the face with cold water and rub in more cream. Day by day watch how the old, hard-lined, coarse, rough skin becomes new, fresh, soft and youthful-looking, all due to simple osmosis of the skin, produced by warm water and roseated cream. If you have wrinkles, get a box of Japanese Ice Pencils from your druggist and use them in connection with the cream, and you can get quick action on the deepest wrinkles, no matter of how long standing. There is no reason why any woman between thirty and sixty cannot make herself look from five to fifteen years younger by simply following these directions. Creme Tokalon Roseated and the Japanese Ice Pencils can be obtained at small cost from Wolff-Wilson, Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney, Johnson-Valerie-Pauley Co., Judge & Dolph, Nugents or most any good druggist or department store in this city.—ADVERTISEMENT.

NEW 'JOAN OF ARC' UNDER WATCH IN FRENCH CONVENT

Archbishop Believed in Paris to Be Observing Her Under Vatican Instructions.

By LINCOLN EYRE
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
(Copyright, 1917, by Press Pub. Co.)

PARIS, March 14.—Under the shadow of the great Arch of Triumph, in the Place d'Etoile, in Paris, is the convent of the Sisters of Wisdom, is the girl, 20 years old, whose story has stirred France, the "Modern Joan of Arc," who has vowed to deliver France from the invader.

When she came to Paris a few days ago, her first demand was that she be taken to the summit of Montmatre, highest point in Paris, just before dawn. There, standing before the Basilica du Sacre, at daybreak, as the first shaft of sunlight pierced the mist and caught the top of the great bell tower, she took the vow to deliver France from the invader, as the spirit had directed her.

No one has been permitted to interview Mlle. Clotilde Perchaud. Cardinal Amette, Archbishop of Paris who, it is believed, is acting under instructions from the Vatican, had her sent to the convent in the Avenue Victor Hugo for a period of observation. Every day the priests and nuns who are watching the girl send complete reports to the Cardinal, and it is rumored that he has already sent to Rome a favorable preliminary report on the genuineness of her visions and powers.

I was permitted to stand at a distance and watch the girl as she walked in the convent garden, several nuns following at a respectful distance. Clad in somber, baggy black robes, the girl, nevertheless, seemed to be walking on air, with her head thrown back and her eyes directed heavenward. Her carriage reminded one of Genee, Pavlowa, or some other such dancer.

Wealth of Filmy Hair.

The wealth of filmy hair, which is said, because of its fineness, to float about her like a cloud, was hidden by the religious headgear, but I could see the great gray eyes, whose impelling gaze first attracted the attention of the village priest at Puy Saint-Bonna.

I could see, too, her hands, which are lily white and tiny and tender as those of the most pampered debutante, despite the fact that the girl has done chores which, in peace times, would belong to men, even on the French farms where the women are accustomed to help with hard labor.

Although I could not see the book she had written, partly illegible and entirely illiterate, rudely illustrated in a sort of futurist style, I was told by Deputy Delahaye, who has seen it, that its contents are no less wonderful than perplexing.

Savants and students of religion who have examined the book assert that it shows a knowledge of the primal principles of theology, which indicates that the author has the clearest insight into the fundamentals of Roman Catholicism, but is apparently not gifted with the power to translate those ideas into fluent French. Throughout the work there are passages in Latin, Greek and Hebrew, yet she apparently has less than the usual French child's schooling.

Mlle. Perchaud has always lived with her parents and her sister on a little farm at Puy-Saint-Bonna, a hamlet eight miles from Cholet. Her peculiar personality and disposition led her parents to agree with her teachers that it was better to let her stop her schooling when she wished.

Builds Rude Stone Altar.

Since the age of 14 she has been studying by herself. A year later she started the construction of a rude field stone altar on her father's farm. It immediately attracted the attention of neighbors, and then those further away, until it became an object of curiosity for the whole region.

Mothers, wives and sweethearts of soldiers brought photographs of their dear ones at the front and placed them before the statue of the Virgin Mary which adorned the girl's rude altar. Her advice to women whose loved ones had been reported missing, which frequently resulted in the soldiers being found, often in German prison camps or suffering a shock of amnesia or aphasia in a distant hospital, was the first indication of psychic powers said to be possessed by the girl.

A week ago she announced to her parents that a spirit had appeared to her, charging her with the mission of delivering France from the invader. She was taken to see the Bishop of Poiteres. He appeared in priestly black while a priest wore the purple robe of the Bishop. Without faltering or hesitating, the girl ignored the priest gowned as the Bishop and, kneeling before the real Bishop, kissed his hand and told him of her mission.

Another priest accompanied the girl to Paris, where she made her strange vow on Montmartre, gazing in the half light of daybreak across the mist-hidden capital of France.

Accidental Shot Wounds Two.

Mrs. Lottie Faupel, 33 years old, of 1510 Montgomery street, was shot in the right thigh and her son, Chester Faupel, 17 years old, was wounded in the palm of the right hand last night when Charles Bruce, 17 years old, a printer, of 906 Tyler street, accidentally discharged a revolver in the kitchen of the Faupel home.

NAVY LEAGUE BACKS RECRUITING CAMPAIGN

Albert Bond Lambert Says Demand for Gunners Promises Rapid Promotion.

Now is the time to join the navy, if you wish to be a gunner. This is the belief of Albert Bond Lambert, head of the local branch of the Navy League of the United States, who has undertaken to stimulate recruiting in St. Louis.

Lambert said today that the President's decision to arm merchant ships would deprive the navy, for a time, of many of its gunners. At present, he explained, they are more needed on merchant ships than on battleships.

"To defend a merchant ship against a submarine," Lambert said, "a gunner must be able to hit a stovepipe sticking out of the water at a distance of 2000 yards or more. That is the size of the target they have to shoot at. There is no time for more than two shots. The first shot must give the range, and the second must smash the periscope, or the submarine will have escaped.

Promotion to Be Rapid.

"If a merchant ship has not a first-class gunner, it might as well not try to defend itself at all. Therefore there are many vacancies now, and the chance for promotion to the rank of gunner in the navy is likely to be very rapid for awhile."

Naval recruiting posters, written by Lambert, are being posted by the local branch of the Navy League. In these posters, Lambert has emphasized the benefits of naval service for ambitious young men. He believes that, if the advantage of the service were more generally understood, enlistments would be obtained more rapidly.

"The battleship," this poster says, "is not merely a fighting machine, but it is in every sense a complete and splendidly equipped manual training school, where men are engaged in a score of different occupations, especially fitting them for careers in civil life. Machinists, electricians, pharmacists, bakers, boiler makers, coppersmiths, carpenters, stenographers, wireless operators, plumbers, boat construction, bookkeepers—in fact, 50 different trades; and in doing all this the Navy is in the essentials carrying out a policy of practical and industrial education designed to fit the youth to take care of himself in life.

103,000 Men Are Needed.

"Apart from the work there are field and water sports, football, baseball, rowing, swimming, boxing, music, drills and exercises, target practice, and what goes generally to make life cheerful."

According to figures cited by Lambert, 103,000 additional men are needed to put the navy on a basis of the complete manning of all ships and lighter craft which would be needed in war. The present authorized force is 77,000, and there were 26,622 vacancies Feb. 28. The Navy League has been able, by special efforts, to increase the number of recruits materially, but a much larger number is needed. Because of the present lack of men, 16 battleships are now in reserve, virtually out of commission, Lambert says.

BOARD OF EDUCATION APPROVES HIGH SCHOOL MILITARY TRAINING

Maj. C. E. Stodter, Now at Jefferson Barracks, to Supervise Work of Three Instructors.

The Board of Education of the St. Louis schools last night gave its approval to military training in the high schools. Three non-commissioned officers of the United States army have been assigned to be instructors, and the work will be under the supervision of Maj. Charles E. Stodter, now on duty at Jefferson Barracks.

In each of the high schools will be installed target galleries and metal lockers for arms and accouterments. The students will wear uniforms of the West Point Cadet pattern. The Government will supply rifles.

John W. Withers, the new superintendent of instruction, sat with the board for the first time. E. George Payne was confirmed as his successor in the principalship of the Harris Teachers' College. The board adopted a recommendation that the next high school be named after the late Ben Blewett.

MEN OF BATTERY A GET MEDALS

Tokens of City's Appreciation of Their Services at the Border.

Bronze medals, expressive of the city's appreciation of Battery A's service at the border, were presented to the members at the armory last night by E. J. Spencer on behalf of the city. Mayor Kiel made a short address, thanking the men for reflecting credit on the city by their conduct on the border.

It was announced that a movement had been started to raise an artillery battalion in St. Louis, for which two other batteries will be needed. A meeting will be held at the Armory Monday night, to which all men interested in the movement are invited.

FEW DROPS AND A CORN LIFTS OUT

Says there is no excuse for cutting corns and inviting lockjaw.

Let folks step on your feet hereafter; wear shoes a size smaller if you like, for corns will never again send electric sparks of pain through you, according to this authority.

He says that a few drops of a drug called freezone, applied directly upon a tender, aching corn, instantly relieves soreness, and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out without pain.

This drug is sticky but dries at once and is said to simply shrivel up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue.

It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce obtained at any drug store will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Cut this out, especially if you are a woman reader who wears high heels.—ADV.

WILLIAM F. SHEEHAN DIES AT HIS HOME IN NEW YORK CITY

Law Partner of Alton B. Parker Formerly Was Prominent in Democratic Politics.

NEW YORK, March 14.—William F. Sheehan, former Lieutenant-Governor of New York and a law partner of Alton B. Parker, who was prominent in State and city politics in former years, died today at his home here.

When the State Legislature became deadlocked in the political struggle to select a Democratic candidate for the United States Senate in 1911, it was Sheehan on whom the fight centered. The deadlock was broken by the agreement to choose James A. O'Gorman, whose term expired March 4.

Sheehan was a conspicuous figure in the Democratic national convention in St. Louis in 1904, when Parker was nominated for the presidency. Parker sent to Sheehan his famous telegram telling the convention he could not be a candidate for President on a platform in which the free silver issue was recognized.

Two Cottages on Buck Avenue Burn.

Fire last night destroyed two frame cottages and damaged two others in the 1500 block on Buck avenue. The homes of Henry Smith and Charles Phillips at 1553 and 1547 were burned. The loss was estimated at $7500. The home of Charles Michaels at 1555 was damaged $25 and that of Lem Bobbitts at 1557 about $75.

Hope Almost Abandoned When She Found a Reme

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Relieves Chronic Case of Long Standing.

After a long period of suffering with liver and bowel trouble that brought on piles, during which she had tried many remedies without obtaining relief, Mrs. Mary J. Jewell, of Berrien Springs, Mich., heard of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and obtained a bottle from her druggist. This simple, inexpensive laxative compound brought almost immediate relief and Mrs. Jewell wrote to Dr. Caldwell about her case.

In her letter Mrs. Jewell says "I had tried so many things for the piles, without being helped at all, I had about given up hope of ever being any better. I knew it was the condition of my bowels that caused them, and after I had taken a bottle of your Syrup Pepsin I knew it was just the medicine I needed. I am very grateful to you for sending me the little book—the advice and instructions it gives would teach anyone how to get well and how to keep well."

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, free from opiate or narcotic drugs, and is mild and gentle in its action, bringing relief in easy, natural way, without griping or other pain or discomfort.

Druggists everywhere sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for 50 cents a bottle. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure you get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge can be obtained by writing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

SALOON CARD GAME PRIVILEGE EXPLAINED

Excise Commissioner Believes Playing Should Be Confined to Men of Mature Age.

Following a conference between Excise Commissioner Lewis and members of the Board of Police Commissioners, Chief Young last night issued the following instructions to police Captains:

"Order all dramshop keepers to close doorways and entrances between their saloons and poolrooms.

"Notify dramshop keepers that disorderly characters, men and women, will not be tolerated as frequenters of dramshops and that no women will be allowed to frequent bars.

"Social card playing will be permitted in rooms adjoining barrooms, but will not be permitted in the barrooms proper, and under no circumstances is gambling of any kind, whether with dice or cards, to be tolerated."

Explains Card Privilege.

It was erroneously published yesterday afternoon in the newspapers that the order permitting card playing would apply only to "old men." Excise Commissioner Lewis said this error was due to the misconstruction of an interview which he gave out after the conference with Police Commissioners.

The Excise Commissioner, in an interview yesterday explaining the new saloon rulings, asserted that the purpose of the order was not to deprive "old men" of the privilege of playing cards as a social diversion, as it had been a lifetime custom for many of them. But today he explained that the privilege did not apply to "old men" alone, but to all except minors, although the Commissioner personally prefers that younger men do not play.

GIRL'S FEAR OF GOSSIP LEADS HER TO DEATH

She Declined to Take Refuge Overnight From Blizzard With Young Man.

BELLE FOURCHE, S. D., March 14.—Refusing to enter even the shadow of a compromising position with her fiancee as a protection against one of the worst blizzards that ever swept this State, Miss Florence Heinbaugh was overwhelmed by the cold and died.

Miss Heinbaugh and Walter Wilson started in a light wagon to attend a dance 20 miles away from their homes. On the wagon was a light camp bed, which the man carried for use in the event it might be useful at the home of the friends where the dance was to be given. They had gone but a few miles when the blizzard struck them. For a time the horses made headway against it, but finally gave up.

Wilson proposed that they shield themselves from the cold by wrapping up in the bedclothes, but his companion declined because of the possible reflection upon her character. Then they got out of the wagon and, unhitching the horses, walked along, the animals acting as a partial shield against the wind and snow, which was accompanied by 30-below temperature. Then Miss Heinbaugh found herself unable to proceed and begged Wilson to go ahead to find, if possible, help for both of them. Eventually the young man encountered a sheep wagon and the owners went with him to search for the girl. They found her dead in the snow.

RABID CAT BITES TWO MEN AND A BULLDOG

Animal Is Killed While Following at the Heels of a Third Victim.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 14.—After biting a dog, two men and while chasing a third man, who led it for two blocks, a rabid cat finally was struck by one of several shots fired at it by George Strand, Marshal of the town of Waysata. Its skull was opened here and the brain showed it to have a severe case of rabies.

The cat, which was of unusual size, entered the butcher shop of John Dobson and bit a bull dog. Then it attacked an employe of Dobson, following with an attack upon a customer. Fred Rodner, another employe of the butcher, fled to bring the town Marshal to the rescue, and just as he found the officer he beheld the cat cross the street and pointed it out, then took to his heels. The cat chased him for two blocks, Strand followed and shot repeatedly at the animal.

The two men bitten by the cat were given the Pasteur treatment in this city.

MISSOURIAN GONE 10 YEARS DECLARED DEAD

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 14.—Under a ruling of the Circuit Court here Andrew L. Warren has been declared legally dead, and his widow was given judgment for $2000, the amount of insurance on his life in the Order of Railway Conductors.

Warren has not been heard from since Feb. 22, 1907. On that date he left Zacatecas, Mexico, for Mexico City, as conductor of a Mexican Central train. The widow lives with her mother here, and for the first time gave out all the information she has regarding the disappearance of her husband.

"I believe that he must have been killed by bandits," she said. "The crew on his train would never give me any details and I could never get any satisfaction from them. All my efforts to get information from Mexican officials proved futile."

Growing to Be a Giantess.

BALTIMORE, March 14.—A girl who has been growing for the last three years at a phenomenal rate and is now over six feet tall, although only 12 years old, is attracting the expert attention of medical men of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, who expect to see her become a prodigy, a veritable giantess. She weighs 117½ pounds. Although something of a highbrow when it comes to literature, she is just a plain girl when candy is mentioned.

MAN TOO EXPENSIVE A SOLDIER

TEDDINGTON, England, March 14.—James B. Husband, who has 10 children, was given six months' exemption by the military tribunal here, which held that with $12.25 separation allowance, he would be too expensive as a soldier.

The military representative urged that in view of the number of his children he should be ordered to cultivate an allotment.

FISH MARKED WITH FIGURE EIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 14.—Cliff Oliver, who markets fish caught by the Japanese and Russian fishermen of the fishing village north of Santa Monica, claims that for this almost fishless season there has been a fair catch of halibut and sole. He said further:

"The strange part of this catch is that every one of the fish had a perfectly marked "8" on its back. I have handled hundreds of tons of these fish before and have never seen one that was marked in this way."

SENATOR STONE'S FIGHT ON ARMED SHIP BILL AS SEEN BY POST-DISPATCH READERS

Some Demand That He Resign From Foreign Relations Committee, While Others Strongly Support His Stand.

The Post-Dispatch herewith presents the final installment of letters from its readers on Senator Stone's opposition to the armed ship bill. Hundreds of letters have been received, but it has been possible to print only comparatively few of them.

Only letters that have expressed ideas or given reasons for the writer's attitude have been selected for publication; those that have merely recorded approval or disapproval have been laid aside. In the interest of fair play, the defenders of Senator Stone, as well as those who condemn him, have been accorded a full hearing. The last of the letters follow:

Manly Thing to Resign.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It would, of course, be the manly thing for Senator Stone to resign from the chairmanship and membership of the Committee on Foreign Relations, to which position antiquated rules of seniority have elevated him. But if Gumshoe Bill were in the habit of doing what is manly he would have supported the President in the national crisis instead of betraying him, as he did.

J. H. DRUCKER.

"Goose Cooked to a Turn."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

If Senator Stone's goose has not been fully cooked by the part he played in defeating the armed neutrality bill and giving away naval secrets, he has browned it to the "Queen's taste" in his published statement. It is a clean-cut statement and shows his pro-German sympathies—strict neutrality he might call it—when he says in reference to England's submerged mines:

"Ships have been shot down by submarines and ships have been blown up by mines. We hear much about one and little about the other. But I confess myself unable to draw a logical line of differentiation between destroying a vessel without warning by a torpedo and destroying a vessel without warning by a submerged mine. I would as soon be killed one way as the other, and one way would be just as lawless as the other."

The Senators, as a matter of public policy, perhaps, or a sentiment against further humiliating a hoary-headed colleague have voted unanimously against dethroning him from his high position as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. But President Wilson is not the man to open up his heart to him in future "confidential conferences," any more than he would discuss state secrets with a Count von Bernstorff or a Herr von Boy-ed.

For National rights and suppression of treasonable conspiracies.

J. D.

A Word for Stone.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

While in Washington attending the inauguration of the President, I read your editorial entitled "Gumshoe Bill," and upon my return to St. Louis I have noticed that your paper has opened its columns to several citizens who have been writing regarding Senator Stone.

The letters which some people wrote to your paper without signing their names and your editorial above referred to, are, in my opinion, the most unjust criticism ever heaped upon a public man. I had the good fortune of being on the Senate gallery when Senator Stone delivered his speech, and I want to say that if any of your writers had not only listened to that masterful oratory, but also had seen the stately manner by which this speech was delivered and the solemnity by which the whole Senate chamber, and the audience in the gallery had received the same, I am satisfied that they would not have been so hasty in condemning the senior Senator from Missouri.

No one can deny that Senator Stone is one of the staunchest American patriots, and if the fateful hour arrives for a declaration of war against any country, he will be found in the front rank ready to contribute his share for the rectification of the American rights and honor. While I, myself, disagree with Senator Stone in his stand, at the same time I have the profoundest respect for the Missouri statesman, and if some of those who have written to your paper had waited until their impulsive feelings are cooled off, and read carefully the speech of Mr. Stone, I am sure they will regret their hasty expressions. If we learn to be fair we will all be better off.

JOHN P. THEODOROPOULOS.

Glad Stone Isn't His Senator.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have been reading in the Post-Dispatch all about Missouri's great Senator. Thank God, I don't live in Missouri. I notice knocks and boosts for Mr. Stone, but I also notice that all of the boosting for him is done by pro-Germans. I am an American-born citizen. I don't mind letting Germany spit on us, but it makes me sore when they rub it in and then puff up and blow about it.

W. PETTERSON.

Herr von Stone.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have read with much amusement some of the silly arguments put up in favor of "Herr von Stone." One says it is about time the great silent majority were pinching themselves awake. He and his kind across the water will find us very much awake when the proper time comes.

One signing himself A. C. King says he instructed the carrier of the Post-Dispatch to discontinue leaving the paper because it stood up for America against a foreign country. I should think the Post-Dispatch would feel honored. I ask him and his kind what is this, "America or are we just a province of Germany?"

We as Americans are not challenging Stone, Lafollette and their clique for expressing their opinion, but we do certainly challenge their right to block a vote on the armed ship bill when there was an overwhelming majority in favor of it and when the honor of their country was at stake.

J. F. WITHROW,
Spanish-American War Veterans.

"Keep Out of the War."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In your issue of March 11 I noticed a number of letters under the headline, "More Post-Dispatch Readers Condemn Stone for Ship Bill Stand." Out of 13 letters you published I found eight of them favored Senator Stone's attitude in the so-called "armed neutrality bill." I am unable to understand how such a headline is appropriate for a majority favoring Stone's stand. Your excuse may be that you received many more letters condemning Stone's attitude, but that you were unable to print them on account of lack of space, but it seems that you would select a more uniform number of letters in divided opinion.

In my opinion, Mr. Stone is one of our greatest statesmen, because he is fearless of comment and criticism of our great American metropolitan newspapers. As for the international law, it is a gross failure, as none of the belligerents abide by it. I do not understand why we should be embroiled in this great European conflict because a few Americans insist on traveling on belligerent steamers carrying munitions. Let our President warn them from such ships, as he did our citizens in Mexico.

WILLIAM VATTER JR.

"Unfair to Stone."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Being a daily reader of the Post-Dispatch for almost a year and having read almost all the criticisms you have so far dished out on Senator William J. Stone, I thought it a good idea to ask you a sensible question. Don't you think the people ever get tired of reading your most insulting remarks about one of the greatest statesmen in the country at the present time? I and many others consider your articles not even worth the paper they are printed on. Stone is not opposing Wilson; nor is he even trying to help Germany. In fact, I doubt whether he is as much interested in the German cause as your articles show the Post-Dispatch to be interested in the British.

From the appearance of your articles, I am sure the Post-Dispatch is one of the newspapers trying their level best to engage the United States in the

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Silex Voters Rebuke Stone.

The following copy of a letter addressed to Senator Stone from Silex, Mo., and said to have been signed by 42 voters of Silex has been sent to the editor of the Post-Dispatch with a request for its publication in the "Letters From the People Column:"

Dear Senator: It was with a feeling of deep disappointment that we read the report of the events marking the closing hours of our Sixty-fourth Congress.

So fully were we convinced that the sentiment of every true and loyal American would be correctly voiced by our representatives in Congress on the grave issue which was under consideration that we looked forward with pride to the time when the great American Congress and the administration would stand forth with one united voice, condemning by their vote and action those nations who we believed have utterly disregarded the rights of and even plotted against our own nation and our people.

We believed that party feeling would be forgotten; that individual qualms and sentiments would be crushed, and that our Senators would know naught in this great crisis save the wish and will of the great mass of true and loyal Americans at home, unable to speak, save through their chosen representatives.

We sir, were certainly grieved to learn that our own Senate body was not permitted to place on record its convictions on this grave issue. We were grieved that the great majority were shackled by the will of the few in a national crisis such as this. But above all sir, we feel constrained, as your constituency, as part of those whose wish and will, you, as our representative, are presumed to know and voice, to speak frankly our disappointment, and to say that we deeply regret and deplore the fact that our Senator, a Senator of the great Democratic State of Missouri, should have been one of those very few who prevented the voice of the overwhelming majority of the Senate body being declared, which we believe to be the voice, true will and wish of the vast majority of their American constituency.

Yours very truly.

SIGNED BY FORTY-TWO VOTERS OF SILEX, MO., AND VICINITY.

A Ghost That Will Not Down.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

If the members of that "little group of willful men" who thwarted the will of Congress and the national administration on the armed ship measure had been as anxious to set themselves right with the people before the events as they are now, there would have been no occasion for this pest of "explanations." Nearly everyone of them has come forward with some verbose plea to his constituency not to judge him harshly. Each plea contains some paraphrase in thought of Macbeth's words to the ghost of Banquo:

> Thou canst not say I did it; never shake
> Thy gory locks at me.

But the ghosts of public confidence and trust which these men slew will not soon be exorcised by "explanations," though they be the most verbose and labored that were ever penned.

X. Y. Z.

Our Efficient Police.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I write this to add one more to the innumerable illustrations of the martinet-like efficiency of our comfortably salaried police. Last Thursday night I had occasion to stay up beyond the usual hour. My brother and sister, having been invited to attend a reunion of relatives, returned home some time after midnight. Passing the front of the house, they found a man lying huddled up on the small patch of inclosed ground which in summer seems to remind us of old scenes in the country.

At first, they were alarmed, for they feared lest some accident should have occurred. But by his snoring (for he evidently was all unconscious of his condition and apparently enjoyed his nap), they soon arrived at the conclusion that he was a poor, homeless devil. Nevertheless, feeling that it was safer to be rid of his unpleasant proximity, my brother decided to call a policeman to remove him. And he tramped the streets for fully an hour and a half, and at length succeeded—in NOT finding one. Finally we mustered courage to wake the man and put him on the road to the municipal lodging house.

AN OLD RESIDENT.

Promises Don't Count.

From the New York Evening Telegram.

Head of the New York organization called on Gov. Whitman and, in the event of war, pledged him support of 500,000 suffragists. Great! Still, madam, it's a lot of suffargists. Man named Bryan once promised 1,000,000 soldiers between sun and sun, but there was nothing doing, so we always scale down these big figures.

THE STRIKE THREAT BLUNDER.

"In case of war," say the railway brotherhood leaders, there will be no strike. But if a strike is on when war comes, what then?

What will be the effect of a nation-wide railroad strike when the Government is straining every nerve to prepare for war. What a preparation for war to have the railroads tied up and the country plunged into a stupendous industrial conflict!

At the very moment when the nation needs above all things unity and co-operation and the fullest possible use of every agency and means of transportation and industrial and commercial efficiency, the railroad brotherhoods threaten internal war and blockade. What a hollow mockery the assurance of no strike "in case of war" is!

A strike at this time would be a blunder from any standpoint. It would be a strike against legal processes invoked favorably to the trainmen. It would be a disloyal act menacing the safety and welfare of the nation in a war crisis.

The brotherhood leaders, like "the willful twelve" in the Senate, are in ignorance of the American spirit they are challenging and defying. If they disregard the national interest and national safety by plunging the country into a desperate internal conflict and blocking transportation, a startling awakening is coming to them. They ought to be wiser than to think their will can override the vital interests of America.

The British still are trying to fix the responsibility for the Dardanelles fiasco. While they're about it they might get a detailed report on the battle of Hastings and the surrender of Yorktown.

NOW FOR THE ANNEXATION BILL.

A special effort on behalf of the St. Louis annexation bill is the duty of all St. Louis members in the few hours now remaining for constructive legislative work.

The bill has already passed the Senate, where it was expected its chief difficulties would be encountered. If this just and eminently fair measure is defeated, the responsibility must rest with the House. That body cannot afford to show itself less responsive than the Senate to the desire of an important section of the State.

Opposition to the bill is silenced by an examination of its provisions. It is strictly a home-rule measure under which initiative and action looking to boundary changes are retained by the people of this locality. It is necessary to important interests of St. Louis City and St. Louis County. Its enactment is very earnestly requested.

The British have a plan to organize several thousand civilians into a farmers' organization to plow at night—to make hay while the moon shines, as it were.

THE MUNITIONS TAX.

The Missouri Legislature should ponder the matter carefully before it passes the Wilkinson bill which would impose a tax of 10 per cent upon the selling price of all war munitions manufactured in the State for foreign Governments. The measure is intended to produce revenue, but its immediate effect is likely to be to drive the industry out of Missouri.

All such contracts as yet unfilled will expire March 31, and notice has been sent out that new ones are not likely to be offered. The Federal Government has imposed a tax of 12 1-2 per cent on the profits from munitions contracts, but this applies equally to manufacturers in all states. A State tax would apply only to the one commonwealth. This would mean, in all probability, that the business would go from Missouri to some state where there is no additional handicap. The manufacturers say the margin of profit is already too small for them to shoulder an additional imposition of 10 per cent and that the foreign Governments could not be expected to stand the burden when they can avoid it by simply buying the goods somewhere else,

Missouri needs additional revenue and Missouri industry will not object to paying its just share. Care must be exercised, however, to prevent discrimination against Missouri industry and in favor of that of other states.

Germany is willing to evacuate Belgium on condition that it be permitted to maintain garrisons at Liege, Namur and Antwerp, to control all the railroads and ports and police the country. Where does the evacuation come in?

MRS. BANISTER'S LONG LIFE.

Congratulations to Mrs. Miriam Sparks Banister upon her hundredth birthday which she is to celebrate Monday. May she enjoy many more of them and live to a ripe old age! May she continue to enjoy her roast beef and plum pudding with undiminished appetite, and may there never lack a bit of tea for her caddy.

Already the tale of her years is prodigious. Compared to hers the longevity of Methuselah was as the passing of a season, for more things have happened to the world in a single decade of her existence than transpired in a cycle of Methuselah's time. Yet she is still happy and hearty, retaining a youthful interest in what is going on about her, with many a quip for the foibles of her sex and many a hope for the future.

When she was born George III, the monarch who alienated the American colonies from the mother country was still living, although his intelligence was darkened by insanity. George IV was misgoverning England as regent, and Queen Victoria was not yet born. Napoleon I was eating out his heart in solitude at St. Helena. James Madison was about to turn over the presidency of the United States to James Monroe. Lord Macaulay was a college undergraduate, Dickens was scarcely out of dresses, Thackeray was in the elementary classes at school and Byron was at the height of his popularity.

The span of her life measures advances in sciences, invention, industry, political philosophy and learning such as no other equal period has witnessed since the days of Adam. She is fortunate in that as these thrilling years approach their most exciting climax she can still occupy a seat as a peaceful and interested spectator.

And if, as is reported, she has somewhat of misgivings as to the scantiness of apparel affected by the ladies of the present, she has only to draw upon her own memory to realize that fashions change—that every zenith has its nadir.

With hogs selling at $15 a hundred any actor ought to feel highly complimented to be referred to as a "ham."

THE ISSUE IS MURDER.

It is important that the issue between the United States and Germany be kept free from irrelevant matters. It is actually very simple, though the public mind has been much befogged by the smoke-screen thrown out by Senator Stone and others of "the little group of willful men," whom the President denounced.

The State Department's announcement on Monday was appropriately concise, though certain phases of it need emphasis. It said:

> In view of the announcement of the Imperial German Government on Jan. 31, 1917, that all ships, those of neutrals included, met within certain zones of the high seas, would be sunk without any precaution being taken for the safety of the persons on board, and without the exercise of visit and search, the Government of the United States has determined to place upon all American merchant vessels sailing through the barred areas, an armed guard for the protection of the vessels and the lives of persons on board.

This announcement in no way challenges any of Germany's acknowledged rights under the law of nations; it does not deny to Germany the right to visit and search our vessels, to turn them back from enemy coasts effectively blockaded, to seize their contraband, or even to destroy them, after protecting persons on board.

Germany, however, has publicly abandoned all of these lawful modes of civilized warfare and has substituted assassination. The world is thus thrown back into a state of nature with respect to her, where nations must invoke the primitive and paramount law of self-preservation.

Assassination long ago disappeared from land warfare as a crime too vile to be countenanced among civilized belligerents. In 1806 Charles James Fox, British Foreign Minister, spurned the offer of a French renegade to assassinate Napoleon and thereby end that great war. The manual of the German General Staff, while joining in the condemnation of this crime, preaches officially to its army that it is permissible if accomplished through enemy subjects or third parties. It is not surprising, therefore, that wholesale assassination has been so lightly adopted as a permissible practice in its navy.

THE COUNTRY IS RIGHT.

Stephen Decatur did so much for his country that he can perhaps be pardoned for having said, "My country, right or wrong." But in the mouths of politicians, playing for the support of disloyal elements, the phrase has become unpardonable. It is an insinuation that the country is wrong. It was never more right than it is now. Senator Stone does not better his position as a whipped-in deserter by his misuse of the phrase.

A Chicagoan who recently celebrated his 100th birthday, chewed and drank liquor most of his life. A centenarian in Kansas attributes his longevity to abstinence from tobacco, and alcoholic drink. These two cases prove conclusively that the way to live to be 100 is to successfully pass your ninety-ninth birthday.

CHAIRMAN SCHMOLL'S FAIR PROPOSAL.

Chairman Schmoll of the Republican City Committee agrees that if the Democrats name five candidates of approved qualifications for the School Board, his party will name one candidate and the six will be accepted as the ticket of both political organizations.

The two vacancies to be filled on the board give an opportunity to restore the balance disturbed two years ago when the Democrats nominated two candidates whom the Republicans for good reasons rejected. Mr. Schmoll's plan will not only accord both parties equal representation on the next board, but will revive and renew the old bi-partisan system of choosing members which worked well for many years.

The Republicans first broke the rule on the plea that the Democrats failed to nominate candidates acceptable to the people and fit for the office. Since then conditions have been growing worse until the School Board has become a partisan body. The Democrats cannot do less than meet the challenge of the Republicans by naming five high-class candidates.

If the Democrats fail to meet public expectations in School Board nominees how can they win public confidence?

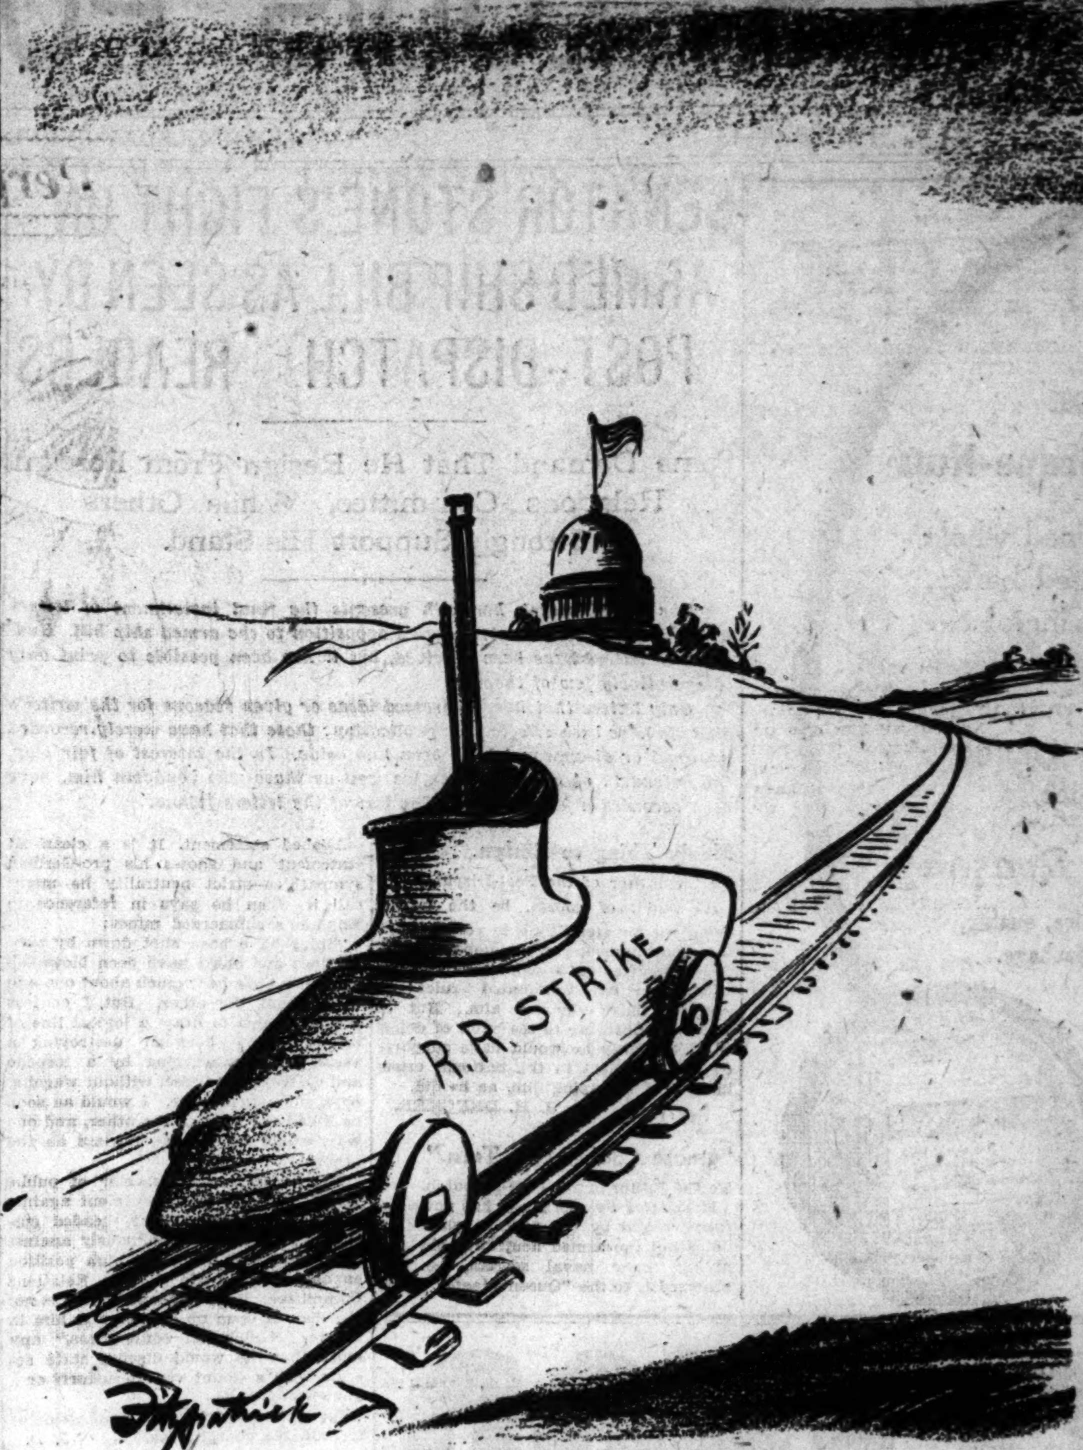

The Kaiser is reported to be suffering from a chill. This is probably the German epidemic that prevented the prompt release of the Yarrowdale prisoners.

SANE MORTGAGE TAXATION.

A bill which makes a separate classification of mortgages for purposes of taxation, under the authorization of the Constitution, and requires the payment of a small recording tax has passed the Senate by a vote of 22 to 8.

The strength developed in that body by the measure is gratifying. The assessment of mortgages on the plan on which other property is assessed imposed a burden of double taxation on Missourians who can least afford it, with small gain in revenue to the State. It is practically confiscation to require the holder of a mortgage to turn over to the tax collector two or three per cent of a total income of only five or six per cent on its face value. As long as it is attempted, just so long will tax-dodging be a universal practice and just so long will perjury be regarded as only a conventional crime.

The State's urgent revenue needs should impel the House to agreement in this bill. A small recording tax which will require every dollar secured by mortgage to pay something into the treasury will yield 10 times as much income to the State as the present foolish system. That system seeks to tax both the real estate and the incumbrance and only succeeds in levying an unjust and discriminatory tax on a negligible proportion of the mortgages outstanding.

MR. ANTWINE ON CARRANZA.

"It is gratifying to learn that at least one person in this warring world who is sometimes said to speak for home consumption is really having his stuff consumed at home.

"This seems to be the case with Gen. Carranza, who has just been elected President of Mexico by something like a million to nothing. We were assured from time to time that he only spoke through us to his own people, and if one may judge by the result he did this to very good effect.

"While there may be some suspicion that the recent clash at the Mexican poles was probably much like a wet and dry election in one of our big American cities, there is still a chance that we have not appreciated Carranza as a politician. He certainly did not get the better of Villa by superior military talent, and if it is true that he exposed the Zimmermann plot to us he proved himself capable of an unexpected political shrewdness.

"When home consumption is as avid as it probably was in Mexico prior to the recent election, we ought not to judge one in Carranza's position too quickly. To keep one's own people in hand is often a very difficult and delicate task, and Carranza seems to have done that. Perhaps we may now expect to find him a little friendlier."

WAR.

War is the whirlwind of hate, fear, and greed; the wages of sin; the purgatory of life; the over-valuation of material gain; the terrible under-valuation of life, spiritual gain. When man values life above gold—above all else—there can be no war; and until he does war must always be. Of what avail if a man, or nation gain all else and has not life?

"Honor" and "duty" are the most misunderstood and terribly abused words in the world's language. The average man thinks that if another man calls him a "liar" that he has the "right," and that it is his "duty" to knock him down—to defend his "honor." As if being called a "liar," or any other name would dishonor a man.

All, both man and nation, have their honor in their own hands and the other fellow has absolutely nothing to do with it. Nothing can be honorable that takes or lessens life in any way. The Master came to give life. (And we should do the same.) No matter what the cause, the principle is the same, anything against life is sin, wrong, and can never be honorable. It can never be man's duty to take or lessen life in any way.

Here the Master gives us, summed up in the fewest words, not only the strictest and greatest code of honor, but also the strictest, highest, and only code of life.

LIKE THE FRESH SOUND OF THUNDER.

Like the fresh sound of thunder the Spring comes breaking in.
Hai yah! Yah hee!
The tufted maple buds are red,
The snow-drop lifts its pallid head,
The blue-bird wings.
From naked haunts the meadow-lark,
Mute vagrant through the Winter dark,
Rises awhile and sings.
The sun has sloughed the night by seven
An hour since and climbed the heaven
Again on fire,
On fire with that pregnant flame
Conceived through which the ages came
And all the years,
The lilly and the lambkin came,
And man, and tears.

Under the hill,
Hai yah!
And on the plain,
In the warm wind the horses strain
Before the plow,
Shouting aloud for joy
The farmer boy
Is in the furrow now,
In blue against the hill
Is in the fresh-turned furrow now.
In town and country-side the Spring
Leaps in the heart of everything,
Hai yah! Yah hee!
And soon in every branch and creek
The roaring rains will run,
The roaring rains a-pant will speak
And shout and cry in every creek
And clap their crests with glee;
And in the rush the flags will blow;
And April May will overthrow;
Hai yah! Yah hee!
Like the fresh sound of thunder the Spring
breaks over me.

East St. Louis sign indicating that oysters are not permitted to run at large over there since the season ended:

There are many signs that flap in the wind, but probably none that flaps with a more melancholy bang on the March night than this one at the old Federal League Park:

> No Game Today

One of our sign hunters photographed this sign in Mobile:

Dorothy Dix says

It Is a Fact That All Women Are—Well, Prevaricators, and That Men Make Them So, Because They Don't Want to Hear the Truth From Them.

RECENTLY a distinguished English woman novelist, giving her views on various matters, said that one of the greatest shocks a woman ever got was when she discovered that she could not tell the truth to her husband, he simply would not stand for it. He demanded that she should lie to him.

This statement is astounding simply because it is the plain, unvarnished truth. It is one of the few occasions upon which a woman has permitted herself the luxury of handing a man a large hunk of strict veracity instead of the customary tarra-diddle that he is accustomed to receive from her.

It is a fact that all women are liars, and that men make them so.

A girl's education in duplicity begins in the cradle. A boy is permitted to be the elemental savage that nature made him. He is allowed to act himself, and to comport himself as the feminine sex, in especial, in accordance with his true sentiments. If he doesn't like a girl, he lets them. If he doesn't want to make himself agreeable to an old lady, he openly vanishes from the scene, or he snarls or silent, or freezes her in some other way.

On the other hand, the little girl is told that no matter how ill-tempered and selfish and catfish she may be, she must act like a little angel and be full of sweetness and amiability and unselfishness, because, if she doesn't, people won't like her and they won't give parties and ask her to their parties.

She has it also ground into her subconsciousness that woman's mission in life is to always rub the masculine fur the right way. No matter how much a stupid boy bores her, she must look at him with a rapt expression as if she were having the time of her life. No matter how much the love making and endearments of some doddering old fool may disgust her, she must smirk and smile and affect to be tickled to death, no matter what a fool she thinks the egotistical braggart is, she has got to patiently work the bellows.

She can't cut herself away from the man who weary her beyond endurance, whose presence make her very flesh creep with loathing, because if she did she would get the reputation of being hard and difficult and hard to please and men would avoid her as they would the plague. So, in order that she may have the pleasure of the society of a man she likes, she is found to be hypocrite toward the many that she don't like.

Every girl looks forward to being married as to a time when she can lead a double life and be sincere and frank with the one man that she loves. Alas, it is a vain hope, and the girl brides who attempt the truthful theory soon find themselves in the divorce courts.

The first minute the wife attempts to walk a few planks of veracity into the matrimonial platform she finds that for some unaccountable reason she is about to wreck the whole structure of her domestic happiness, and so, if she is a sensible woman, she abandons the task and goes back once more upon the soothing and salving white lie.

It is a cold, hard fact, that every married woman knows, that a wife cannot live with absolute frankness, as she would like to, with a husband without thinking that she is a human icicle, a fish, a brute, into the bargain. For a man doesn't want the truth from any woman, still less from his wife, and if she hands it out to him at home it won't take him long to scamper away to someone who is a graceful and cheerful liar.

In his secret soul the man is bound to know that his wife is lying to him, because he knows that she is a creature possessed of ordinary intelligence, and that she is bound to perceive his limitations and weaknesses, and how ignorant and narrow and prejudiced he is. All the same he wouldn't stand for a minute for her telling him that she knew just what sort of a man he was, but that she loved him in spite of his weaknesses.

Nor, no matter how intelligent, nor what good judgment a wife has, is she permitted to abandon the pose of a fool. She has to always pretend to sit at her husband's feet and ask his opinion, and defer to his great wisdom, although both of them may know that she's got more sense in a minute than he'll have in a lifetime, and that he leans upon her, and not she upon him. But, my! what a rumpus there would be in the family if she didn't do her little kowtowing before she went ahead and did as she had intended doing from the first.

And take the ever-acute money trouble. Suppose a woman should say to her husband:

"Now, see here, John, I want $50 for a new dress. I've earned the money doing the housework, and sewing, and patching, and mending, and baby tending, and I expect you to hand it over without a word of protest because it's my due as my part of the proceeds of our joint partnership as husband and wife."

Wouldn't John go up in the air? Wouldn't he consider any wife who would speak like that as lacking in all natural feeling? And wouldn't he hang on to the coin until she came to her senses? And don't all women know that? And doesn't the woman who wants a new hat find that the easiest way to get it is to cajole it out of her husband by telling him how good and dear and sweet and generous he is, and what a lucky woman she is to have a great, big, strong, noble husband who gives his wife her clothes?

Thus are the amenities of domestic life sustained, and the more gifted a fabricator the wife, the better beloved she is by her husband. No doubt Ananias regarded Saphira as a model wife, and, as we know, Scherezade was the only one of his numerous wives that ever kept her husband.

Modern Cave Woman Is the Flat Woman; She'd Make Tie That Binds a Slip-Knot And an Empty Life a Perpetual Picnic

That Is the Opinion of Dr. Wise, Who Deplores State of Present-Day Wife of the $30-$50 a Week Man, for She Abandons Child-Bearing at an Early Age So She May Devote Herself to Incredible Selfishness—"Cave Man" Is No Longer Master.

By MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL.

NEW YORK, March 7.

THE last exclusive role of the lordly male is his no longer. Poor dear, when women took his jobs and his vote and his place in the sun, he always fell back on one reassuring recollection. He—nobody else—had been a cave man. If he wanted to he could be a cave man again. No woman could deprive him of his cave manliness. And now, according to an acute observer of social phenomena, Dr. Stephen S. Wise, that's exactly what she's been and gone and done!

"The hideous cave man," Dr. Wise recently told a congregation at the Free Synagogue, "looked upon the cave woman as his personal possession, his property. The apartment house woman regards her husband with exactly the same selfish sense of ownership."

In short, the cave worm—I mean woman—has turned.

"What is the matter with the apartment house woman?" I asked Dr. Wise, when I found him in the office of the Free Synagogue House, No. 36 West Sixty-eighth street. "Why is she so uncivilized? For, outside the German Empire and 'red-blooded' novels and plays, cave tactics are not comme il faut for anybody."

Has Empty Life.

"The matter with the moderately well-to-do married woman is that she has an empty life. She is pitiable," replied Dr. Wise, with quiet vehemence and in a voice like resin wood. Almost a year ago I met Charles M. Schwab, and heard another beautiful speaking voice—two vocal oases in an American desert of masculine growls, grunts and chatterings.

"She has her husband and her children, and many persons still tell her that no good little girl should want anything more," I reminded him.

"Those interests were enough once; they are not enough today," he said.

"A generation ago the average family numbered from four to eight children. Therefore, from the age of 20 to 45 the average wife was bearing and caring for small children. Today, by the time a woman is 30 her one or two children are out of babyhood. There is left her the space between 30 and 50, 60, 70, to fill which, if without calling, she may have nothing more than temporary passions or permanent pastimes.

"I am speaking," Dr. Wise interrupted himself to explain, "of the apartment house woman, whose husband earns $30, $40, $50 a week, who belongs to the group which the English call 'the lower middle class.' I intensely dislike the phrase, but you must understand the type I have in mind.

"The wife of the laborer, of the poor man, works as hard as any woman ever did. She bakes, washes, irons, sews, cares for her home and her several children. Her family is likely to be much larger than that of the apartment house woman. The latter keeps at least one maid. Even if she has two children she sees them for a few minutes at breakfast, for a little while after school. During most of the day she practically is unemployed.

"So she may develop the supreme, incredible selfishness for which there is always opportunity in marriage, in addition to its possibilities of high unselfishness. For her life must be a perpetual picnic, an eternal dalliance in the primrose path."

There was a pause, and a shade of grimness seemed to settle over Dr. Wise's face, the face of a strong man and a dreamer, with its square jaw and chin, its high, white forehead.

"Let me tell you about two young women who talked with me recently," he said. "One was self-supporting. She declared positively that she would marry any nice man who asked her, provided he had a certain income. I think the necessary sum was $40 per week.

"'But suppose you loved a man making less than that?' I inquired.

"'Love is all very well,' she said, 'but I can't live on less than $40 a week.'

Object of Marryings.

She would give up her economic independence, what she considered her economic drudgery, and become a parasite. She wanted to marry in order that she might have a workless job."

"And I am sure," I was guilty of interrupting, "that the only really happy married life for a woman is a double life—an uptown and a downtown life, or an out-of-town and an in-town life. Not to speak cryptically, a life in an office or some other shop, combined with a life in one's own domicile. Only when home is a refuge, not a cage; a happy thought at the end of a busy day—does home have a more fatal enchantment for the modern woman than any cabaret or skating rink."

"I am thoroughly in sympathy with the principle of economic independence for married women," returned Dr. Wise.

"But the other instance of the modern woman's feeling about marriage seems to me even more sinister. The girl in this case told me of her engagement. I said that she must be very happy and she replied, 'Oh, of course we're fond of each other, but we've made a pact that we are to be free if either of us wishes it.' From her further conversation I could see that she was marrying for the freedom she hadn't the courage to grasp outside of marriage.

"She would combine all the rewards of respectability with all the so-called joys of lawlessness. She would dance without paying the piper. A marriage like that is worse than divorce. A man and woman who marry with such ideals are never really wedded. They do not even contract a trial marriage, for they refuse to give marriage a trial."

What to Cultivate.

"And what suggestion do you offer for bettering the apartment house woman and her marriage?" I asked.

"Let her cultivate some serious interest, some definite purpose in life," answered Dr. Wise. "I don't mean that she should paint placques of snowstorms in July. I would never urge all women to dash wildly into 'social service.' Nine-tenths of such work dies aborning, dies of the spirit of patronage in which it was conceived. But I believe that every girl should be trained to economic independence, and that if, after marriage, the necessity for wage-earning no longer confronts her, she should yet remain potentially independent. Whatever she studied as a girl—nursing, teaching, writing or the like—can be directed into a more central channel.

"Thus she brings something to her marriage beyond the desire to get all she can. One reason modern marriage so often fails is because husband and wife treat it not as a comradeship, but as a partnership, to which each contributes liabilities instead of assets. There are assets of a sort, his ability to provide for her material comfort, her highly calculated charm of appearance. But too often neither man nor woman has any great permanent wealth of mind or soul to offer. They are essentially self-regarding.

"So often I have married a boy and girl surrounded by silver and crystal, customary pomp of circumstance, to say nothing of a crowd of overdressed and underdressed women, and I have longed to send everybody away and take the two aside and tell them what the thing they are doing really means. They ought to think of this beforehand, but our whole social system seems designed to make pre-matrimonial thinking impossible and post-matrimonial thinking inevitable," Dr. Wise concluded, with something of the calmness of despair.

The Useful Bean

COLD baked or boiled beans are useful things, indeed, to have on hand, particularly when company comes unexpectedly, and it is necessary to add enough to a dinner prepared for two or three to make it serve several. One of the Cornell reading courses gives a number of excellent recipes. Here are a few of them:

Baked Bean Loaf—1 pint cold baked beans, 1 egg beaten, 1 cupful bread crumbs, salt and pepper, 1 tablespoonful grated onion, 2 tablespoons tomato catsup. Combine the ingredients, and press the mixture into a loaf. Bake for 25 minutes. Serve with strips of fried bacon on the top.

Bean Muffins—Combine the ingredients in the order given: 2 eggs, well beaten, 1 cup cold boiled bean pulp, ½ cup milk, 1-3 cup melted fat, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder. Bake the muffins in greased muffin pans for 20 or 25 minutes. These muffins make a good border for a pot roast, served with brown gravy.

Bean Timbales—Combine the ingredients in the order given: 1 cup cold boiled baked bean pulp, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs, well beaten; 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika. Pour the mixture into custard cups. Set the cups into a pan of hot water. Bake the custard in a moderate oven until it is set.

Bean Souffle.—Beat the yolks of 2 eggs and add to them 1 pint hot boiled bean pulp, 1 teaspoon onion juice and 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley. Fold in the well-beaten whites of the eggs. Heap the mixture lightly in a baking dish. Bake it in a slow oven for about 20 minutes or until it is set. Serve it immediately.

Mexican Frijoles—Soak about 1 pint of beans overnight. Boil them for 4 hours. Melt 2 tablespoons of lard in a frying pan; add the beans; cook them for 10 minutes. Serve with sauce made by the following recipe:

Sauce for Frijoles.—Rub together 1 tomato, 5 green chilies, minced, 1 small onion, minced, ½ teaspoon salt, until they form a paste. Cook the mixture just long enough for it to become heated through.

Bean Crust.—Combine 1 cup boiled bean pulp, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 egg, beaten, 2 tablespoons melted fat, flour enough to make a soft dough. Roll out the mixture to about ⅛ of an inch in thickness on a well-floured board. Cut strips of suitable size, when folded, for individual pies. Fill the pies with chopped cooked meat or vegetables. Fold the crust over, and press it together along the edges. Bake the pies in a moderate oven until they are well browned.

Boiled Bean Soup.—Scald 1 pint of milk and 1 tablespoon minced onion. Melt 2 tablespoons butter, add 1 tablespoon flour to it and blend them. Add to this the hot milk, and stir the mixture until it is smooth and thickened; add the bean pulp, and allow the mixture to come to the boiling point. Just before serving, add the well-beaten wolk of one egg.

The Matches of Yesterday.

BRANDON, a small town in Suffolk, England, still supplies the world with flint-and-steel tinder boxes, which even the developed friction matches of today have not made obsolete, notes the Popular Science Monthly for March. Elderly persons can still tell us about the time when flint-and-steel were universally used; when old rags had to be charred for tinder and when the sparks had to fly to get these to catch fire. Brandon flints have always been justly famous. They were used in the kitchens at home and on cannons in the wars. They saw service at Waterloo, in the Crimean war, and even as late as in the South African campaign. The first one was made in 1827.

ARE BATHS NECESSARY?

This looks like a foolish question in this enlightened age, but there are nearly a million Americans who knew nothing of Internal Bathing a few years ago and are now eager to testify that they are fully as essential to health as External Baths.

By a purely natural process of properly using warm water the "J. B. L. Cascade" removes ALL the poisonous waste from the Lower Intestine, which physicians agree is the cause of 95 per cent of all human ailments.

It instantly relieves constipation, properly regulates the bowels and prevents all Biliousness and Liver Troubles.

Mrs. Viola Fentsch of St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"Your Cascade has helped me very much in overcoming those bilious headaches of which I wrote you, and I am continually telling my friends about it, with the hope that they may give it a trial. It seems such a wonderful blessing to me, to be able to dispense with cathartic medicine, after being a regular martyr to its almost daily use, and the natural run-down conditions which resulted. Yours truly,"

Johnson-Enderis-Mauley Drug Stores in St. Louis have filled a tremendous demand for "J. B. L. Cascades" in the past few years, and will show and explain it to you on request. A free and interesting booklet on Internal Bathing, "Why Man of Today Is Only 5% Per Cent Efficient," can also be obtained for the asking.—ADV.

The New Veils.

VERY lacy, indeed, are the new spring veils, delicate, sheer backgrounds of fine net almost covered with elaborate tracery. Many are scalloped at the edge and many come in patterns with the upper edge plain. They are intended to be attached at the top and back and fall in loose, graceful folds.

The designs are mostly on the naturalistic flower and fern and leaf order, the conventional being left largely to other articles of wearing apparel. Also the designs are small and dainty, the broad heavy ones being seldom seen. As for the mesh, you may have that fine or coarse, as you will, in single or double thread.

These come by the yard, of course, as well as in what they sometimes call pattern veils. Black and white retain their places as favorites, but the browns and biscuit-colored veils also bid fair to be popular. Then, too, there are the plain ones, in black or white, or brown, for those who do not care for the figured effects. These, however, are seldom worn in the sweeping style for which the lace-like ones are so well adapted, but are used chiefly with the small turbans and fitted closely about the head and under the chin.

In between the lacy patterns and the plain veils, the polka dot, as usual, is to be found, but this season it is a tiny thing, rather inclined to be inconspicuous and not to get in the way of the wearer's vision, as the larger and heavier ones were wont to do.

The new veils are in general much lighter and daintier than those of the winter season.

The Newest Parasols.

PARASOLS and hats are to be considered together this year, so the fashion experts tells us, particularly sport hats and the parasols to be carried when they are worn. The first lot of these combinations is now being shown, and the effect is really pretty. The hats, many of them, are made of those rough crepe-like silks with stripes, or rather large, roundish figures, in contrasting colors.

One of the parasols is made of a medium blue and white silk. The stripes are about three inches wide, the white solid, but the blue divided up into narrower blue and white stripes. In addition, there are occasional irregular discs of darker blue and white with a touch of red.

The stripes go around the parasol, but across the brim of the hat that is made of the same silk. Several parasols are covered with Persian silks with various predominating colors. These Persian silks are extremely popular for sport hats, particularly when combined with a plain color.

Then there are the silks with bunches of flowers scattered over rose and mustard-yellow and other plain grounds. These make attractive parasols. So do those silks familiarly known as Dresden, with the dainty blue and pink and yellow flowers on a white ground. These parasols have four or five narrow ruffles, about an inch or so wide, of the predominating color of the flowers, blue or pink or yellow or lavender, forming a border around the parasol. The little ruffles are sometimes hemmed, sometimes pinked, sometimes finished off with a narrow fringe.

One smart parasol is based on white taffeta as a foundation, with a wide band around it of a flowered silk—big pink roses forming the design—divided off from the white with inch-wide bands of black velvet. This makes one think of those fascinating, shepherdessy effects of the Watteau period.

Other parasols of flowered silks with a white ground are finished off with a broad band made up of lavender, green and white stripes. Plain silks, too, are used for the new parasols, many of them being composed entirely of ruffles two inches wide or so, finished off with a rolled hem on the right side. These come in many beautiful shades, lavender and rose appearing to be favorites.

Others are made of that rough, crepe-like silk, with a natural pongee-colored ground and a border in conventional design in a combination of several vivid colors. The hats are made of the same silk with the colored stripe used in hatband effect. One of the smartest of all is of white taffeta and black velvet in alternate two and a half or three-inch stripes.

The handles are mostly of white wood in natural finish, some carved a little at the end.

A few have colored handles, enameled to match the prevailing tone of the silk. Nearly all are finished with ribbon or silk loops, so that the parasol may be carried on the arm when not in use.

Change for Girl Students

A MOVEMENT is under way in the Legislature of Nebraska to place all State educational institutions under the direction of a nonpartisan board comprising one member from each congressional district of the State. This would abolish the present Board of Regents, in charge of the State University, and the board in charge of the four State normal schools.

A dormitory system for housing students at the University of Nebraska is advocated by Mary Graham, dean of the girls at the university, in discussing the housing problem at the university. Dean Graham declares that the greatest problem is to make it possible for students to live under conditions that will add as much as possible to their efficiency, and will eliminate to a reasonable degree the disadvantages attendant upon living away from home.

Establishment of a four-year course in journalism at the University of Nebraska is proposed by a special committee of faculty members. Courses in news editing and writing are now conducted by Prof. M. M. Fogg of the department of rhetoric.

GETTING GRAY? USE SAGE TEA TO RESTORE NATURAL COLOR OF YOUR HAIR

Hair that loses its color and luster, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair, says a well-known local pharmacist. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful and even today this simple preparation has no equal. Millions of women and men too, who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive use only Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Nowadays we are not bothered with the task of gathering the sage leaves and the mussy mixing at home. Simply ask at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of the ready to use preparation, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Customers like this best because it darkens so naturally, so evenly that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it contains ingredients which take off dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. No, it isn't a dye or even like it. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and draw it through your hair taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two it is restored to its natural color.

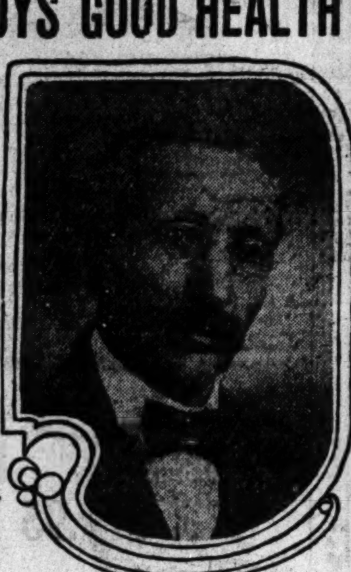

What delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that besides beautifully darkening the hair they say it brings back the gloss and luster and gives it an appearance of abundance.—ADV.

THOUGHT DEATH WAS CERTAIN TWO YEARS AGO; ENJOYS GOOD HEALTH

"Relatives Tell Me I'd Be a Dead Man Today but for Tanlac, and I Believe It," Says E. Bovier.

LUCKY TO FIND NEW PREPARATION.

Considers It Fortunate Day When He Began Taking the Master Medicine — Improved Quickly and Has Been Well Man Since, He Asserts.

E. BOVIER

"Relatives tell me if I hadn't taken Tanlac I would be a dead man today, and I believe them," E. Bovier, 609 Swan avenue, Old Orchard, landscape gardener, said on Feb. 27.

"I was one of the first persons in St. Louis to try Tanlac," he continued. "That was two years ago when I lived in Kirkwood. My stomach was in fearful condition. I'll tell you the truth; the pains that came in my stomach were so severe I couldn't even lie in bed. I had to sit in a rocking chair all day long and bend over with my head resting on my hands. By bending over this way I got a little relief, but the pains were intense. Gas formed in my stomach after every meal and made me feel miserable.

"I think I'd tried about every medicine on the market without a bit of relief when I walked into a drug store one day and saw Tanlac. That surely was a lucky day for me. I bought a bottle of Tanlac and began taking it. By the time I had finished that one bottle my trouble had completely vanished and I've been a well man since. I've not been bothered with pains or gas in my stomach since. I firmly believe that if I hadn't taken Tanlac I wouldn't be here today."

Mr. Bovier said his sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Steffens, 609 Swan avenue, Old Orchard, remarked about how badly he looked before he tried Tanlac.

"I saw her again, after I'd taken Tanlac," Mr. Bovier continued, "and she wanted to know what I had done to make myself look so well. I told her I had taken Tanlac and she said, 'Well, if it hadn't been for that medicine you'd be a dead man today.'"

Readers' Comment on Stand Senator Stone Took

European blood match in the interest of Great Britain. In other words, the Post-Dispatch is allied with other papers throughout the country doing nothing more than trying to send our young American men to war to assist that great and yellow-dogged, greedy nation, England. I believe, when Congressman Galloway (I believe his name is) made the remark that England has bought up the newspapers of this country and controls them for no other reason than to mislead the American Government, he uttered the truth.

I am most earnestly in favor of arming the merchant ships, and from Mr. Stone's own statement, I believe he is. But, like Mr. Stone, I do not believe in arming ships carrying munitions. It is an act of war. If England wants our munitions, let her come and get them, or let her come and protect our ships which carry munitions. We are friendly with both sides; therefore we should not protect one side against the other.

In conclusion, I wish to say that I am an ardent supporter of Wilson and believe firmly in the phrase, "Our country, right or wrong." This letter is only to request the press to withhold its sarcastic opinion until the facts are known. Don't support Morgan & Co.; support public opinion and the Government. The press has us closer to war than even our Government officials have. C. B.

Request Stone to Resign.

St. Louis, Mo., March 8, 1917.

"William Joel Stone, Washington, D. C.:

"The undersigned, qualified voters of the State of Missouri, call upon you in the interest of common decency, to resign your office and make room for a true American to represent us in the national Congress."

WILLIAM J. COOMBS.

Opposition Helpful in Congress.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I read with great dissatisfaction the numerous letters from the people regarding the condemnation of Senator Stone and herein wish to say a few words his favor.

Why, if there is to be no difference of opinion, is it necessary to have a Senate or Congress or anything but a President, who would then reign supreme?

Being nonpartisan, not pro-German or of any of the central Powers lineage, I think I can safely say without prejudice that Senator Stone took the one pat stand that the deluded majority (agreeing indiscreetly) were too imprudent to take.

Arming American ships is a very broad step which must be deeply considered. It seems Stone realized the gravity of this measure and did not place us in jeopardy.

Why not an open declaration of war instead of "beating around the bush," which is anything but true American?

H. RATHJEN JR.

Thanks for Stone Editorials.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Many thanks for your Stone editorials. Not that they will penetrate the skin of Mr. Stone. It is far too thick. The late Benedict Arnold went to the grave considering himself a much-abused man—his self-sacrificing efforts for the American people not having met with proper appreciation. B. G. JOHNSON.

'Judge a Man by His Company.'

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

While I would be very far from saying that all supporters of Senator Stone and the other "willful Senators" in their opposition to President Wilson on the armed ship bill are more in favor of Germany than they are of this country, I will say that every person who condemns the course of our great President in our relations with Germany, and every German language paper that has heretofore upheld Germany in its murderous policy and the entire German press are zealous supporters of Senator Stone's opposition to the presidential policy; while, on the other hand, every person who opposes the murderous policies of the Kaiser and are more pro-American than pro-German condemns Stone's action at the close of the last session of Congress.

If it is any consolation to Stone to receive the commendation of the German language press of this country and the entire German press of Germany as against the almost universal condemnation of the American language press, he is welcome to such consolation. But he should be frank with his constituent of this State and tell them when, in 1914, he urged them to support him so he could assist in upholding the President's hands and the President's policies he was simply practicing a deception upon them and was really desirous of upholding the pro-German views of his German-American friends rather than the policies of the President. GEO. B. PARSONS.

Sikeston, Mo., March 10, 1917.

Likens Stone to Blair.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

William Joel Stone stands today before the masses of this great and glorious land of ours as Frank P. Blair stood before the people of the State of Missouri in the turmoil before and during the Civil War. Frank P. Blair, a Southern man by birth and family connection, had the courage to leave the democracy and rebels and champion the cause of Lincoln and anti-slavery; for this he was hung and burnt at the stake in effigy throughout the State, maligned and slandered and even threatened with death by every Southern sympathizer, secessionist and bushwhacker.

Bark on, ye war dogs! Bark on! Have President Wilson arm the merchant vessels and when cannons boom and the sons are drafted from their parents, and husbands are torn from their wives and families, there will be an awakening in this country, the real causes for arming our merchant vessels will become known and it will not be William Joel Stone that will be hung in effigy, but the name of this courageous man will be emblazoned in the halls of fame and monuments will be erected to his memory for his work in behalf of peace and humanity.

"Let Us Be Just."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Recently in Washington the Senator was pointed out to me by a gentleman who resides there. A gentleman whom I know to be an experienced observer, in whose judgment I have implicit confidence. He said: "In my opinion, next to our President, Senator Stone is the greatest statesman in public life in this country."

This may or may not have been true. But certainly in the opinion of most men at that time he was a very big man—a great statesman, an indefatigable worker in behalf of our country's good.

For the sake of argument let us assume that he has made a mistake. Are we then in the consideration of this single error to forget all of the great good that he has accomplished? To forget the ardent support that he had heretofore accorded to our President? To forget the arduous labors performed by him in his long and useful career?

"A rolling stone gathers much moss."

A Disgusted Missouri Democrat.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As an American, a life-long Democrat and a constant reader of the Post-Dispatch I wish to thank you for the fight you are making on Senator Stone.

I have voted the Democratic ticket for 45 years and have always been proud to be called a "Missouri Democrat," but under the present circumstances I believe I would rather be called a yellow dog. DEMOCRAT.

Back to the Farm for Stone.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It seems strange how some will haul President Wilson over the coals. Not long ago some Senator was kicking about him (Wilson) sending a second note to Germany in the case of the Lusitania and some of the people were saying he had a yellow streak, and now that a war is at hand the tune has changed and they kick on his stand for a country's right. As for Senator Stone, the place for him is back on the farm with the Missouri mule. W. K. PATE.

Oblivion Awaits Him.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I agree with you in the stand you are taking in regard to our Missouri Senators. Last fall they both posed as the friends of the President, and on that misrepresentation and the fact that Wilson was heading the ticket, James Reed pulled through. If it was to be repeated now, the critic of our President and the apologist of Gum Shoe Bill would be sent into oblivion. J. E. L.

Doctors Stand Amazed at Power of Bon-Opto to Make Weak Eyes Strong—According to Dr. Lewis

Guaranteed to Strengthen Eyesight 50% In One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Victims of eye strain and other eye weaknesses, and those who wear glasses, will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope and help for them. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored by this remarkable prescription and many who once wore glasses say they have thrown them away. One man says, after using it: "I was almost blind. Could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without my glasses and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for 15 days everything seems clear. I can read even fine print without glasses." Another who used it says: "I was bothered with eye strain caused by overworked, tired eyes which induced fierce headaches. I have worn glasses for several years both for distance and work, and without them I could not read my own name on an envelope or the typewriting on the machine before me. I can do both now and have discarded my long-distance glasses altogether. I can count the fluttering leaves on the trees across the street now, which for several years have looked like a dim green blur to me. I cannot express my joy at what it has done for me."

It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by the use of this prescription. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and let it dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation and redness will quickly disappear. If your eyes bother you even a little it is your duty to take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have saved their sight if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Yes, the Bon-Opto prescription is truly a wonderful eye remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. I have used it very successfully in my own practice on patients whose eyes were strained through overwork or misfit glasses. I can highly recommend it in case of weak, watery, aching, smarting, itching, burning eyes, red lids, blurred vision or for eyes inflamed from exposure to smoke, sun, dust or wind. It is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." Bon-Opto, referred to above, is not a patent medicine or a secret remedy. It is an ethical preparation, the formula being printed on the package. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is sold in this city by Johnson-Enderle-Pauley, Judge & Dolph, Wolff-Wilson and others.—ADV.

Getting Right With Our Employers

Our employers? That's you—the public—850,000 of you in St. Louis city and county.

Union Electric serves 88,000 of you, and your families, employes and customers, under individual contracts. We serve all the rest of you, in one way or another, under rules and contracts made by your city and state governments.

No doubt about our being public servants.

The public hires us for this job of supplying Electric Service because you believe we can do the work better and cheaper than any other agency, corporate or municipal.

Union Electric is dead willing to bet its job and its $31,105,000 investment on its ability to do that.

But to do it, we must have your good will, so far as we fairly earn it.

As most of you know, this company has been hammered hard by some of the St. Louis newspapers for two or three years past. They denounced our "20% profits," our "robber Keokuk contracts," our "inside grafts," our "alien landlordism," etc., etc. About the only crime they didn't accuse us of was highway robbery.

True? Not a word of it!

But it robbed us of a share of public good will which we must have if we are to give you most and best Electric Service at least cost.

So we have decided, in your interest as well as our own, to use a little printer's ink telling you the exact truth about those matters.

Beginning tomorrow we'll show you every angle of the "robber Keokuk contracts"—show you how those contracts are not a burden but a blessing to this city and county.

SOCIALISTS TO MEET APRIL 7

National Convention Will Decide Party's Attitude in War Crisis.

NEW YORK, March 14.—By a telegraph vote of 37 to 8 the National Committee of the Socialist party yesterday ratified the decision of the Executive Committee to call a national convention April 7. The party's attitude on the present war crisis and the course it will follow in case of hostilities beginning are the chief questions to be decided, though the committee will also pass upon general party questions.

Though no city has been chosen for the convention, Chicago is likely to be selected. St. Louis and Cleveland are also being considered. The party has a rule by which any member joining the army or navy is expelled.

REFRESHMENT PRIVILEGE AT ZOO REPUDIATED

Minutes Showing Award of Concessions Charged When Only Secretary Recalls Any Action.

Minutes of the Board of Control of the zoo in Forest Park, showing that at a previous meeting the board had voted to Thomas Akrivos a refreshment concession on the zoo grounds, were repudiated yesterday, after all the members but George E. Dieckmann declared that no such action had been taken. The board then voted to postpone for a month the sale of the refreshment privileges.

Dieckmann is secretary of the board, and keeps the minutes. When he read the minutes of last month's meeting, yesterday, Robert H. Keiser questioned the accuracy of the record as to the refreshment privilege. Park Commissioner Cunliff, Mayor Kiel and Comptroller Player said that they had no recollection of a vote on the question, and a motion to change the minutes was adopted.

The proposition which Dieckmann contended was approved by the board was that Akrivos pay the city $1000 for the privilege for the current year, but that this amount be expended for a pavilion for his use. Akrivos operates the refreshment stand in the World's Fair pavilion in Forest Park.

ARMED MAN SCARES GOVERNOR

Surrenders After Holding Washington Executive's Office Half Hour.

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 14.—An armed man forced his way into the office of Gov. Ernest Lister yesterday and was in complete charge for half an hour before he surrendered. Gov. Lister had heard a disturbance outside his office and went to an adjoining room just before the man entered.

When taken in charge by the Sheriff the man said his name was Lorenz, that his home was in Milwaukee and that he was crazy. He first appeared at the office of Gov. Lister's secretary, flourishing a revolver and exclaiming, "I will have this out with the Governor." The man rushed past him into the Governor's office.

SAVE YOUR HAIR AND BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DANDERINE"

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its luster its strength and its very life and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually — why not now?—ADV.

'Cascarets" regulate women, men and children without injury.

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, castor oil or dangerous calomel, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give cross, sick, feverish or bilious children a whole Cascaret any time—they are harmless and safe for the little folks.—ADV.

JAPANESE WARSHIP EXPECTED TO BRING GUTHRIE'S BODY HOME

TOKIO, March 14.—As a mark of honor to the late George W. Guthrie, American Ambassador to Japan, the Emperor is expected to detail a Japanese warship, probably the first-class cruiser Ozuma, to transport the body to the United States. Broadly interpreted, this action will be a special manifestation of friendship for the American nation, especially since Japanese warships now are occupied in patrol duty in the Pacific and Indian oceans.

Great numbers of persons have visited the American naval hospital where the body lies in state, the closed coffin surmounted with a beautiful wreath from the Emperor. The diplomatic corps sent a silver wreath designed by Japanese artists. The reception rooms are massed with floral offerings from Japanese dignitaries and Japanese and American organizations. Japanese officers and American military and naval attaches constitute the guard of honor.

'BABY DOLL' SHOWS LITTLE MERCY FOR CURVELESS SHOOTS

GIANT DATES CANCELED

McGraw Refuses to Accept Offer for Two Games at Houston This Week-End.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PALESTINE, Tex., March 14.—"Baby Doll" Jacobson, who weighs 215 pounds, and bats right-handed, continues to command respect in practice games here. If he keeps it up he bids fair to club his way into a membership in the Order of Browns.

Jacobson led the Southern League in hitting in 1916, and if he fails to register a hit with Manager Fielder Jones, it will be because the pitching he is to see later on is far more baffling than the present brand being served to the batters. So far Baby Doll has not been tormented with curves.

In the 10-inning practice joust yesterday Big Jake hammered two drives to the fence. The only reason they were held to doubles was that they crashed so solidly against the boards that they bounded far back into the playing field, making it unnecessary for the fielders to chase them. He also smote a single. If he has a fielding weakness, he hasn't divulged it as yet. He speared a couple of long drives with one hand after giving the ball a hard run. The other recruit fly-chasers have not yet "shown up" Jake.

Kenworthy Is Disabled.

Bill Kenworthy, who hails from the Oakland (Pacific Coast League) team, is, like a half-dozen other Brownies, ailing with a sore throat, but it did not interfere with his third-basing. Because of his great hitting on the Coast last season, Kenworthy looms up as a dangerous rival for Jim Austin's job. He fielded well, but didn't get a hit, although he stung the ball hard.

Shotton, Hale, Stevenson and Bigler were unable to don uniforms yesterday because of sore throats. Every other citizen in Palestine is complaining of the same ailment. This reduced the squad to 26 players.

The two teams yesterday engaged in a 10-inning game because Jones refused to call a halt at the end of six and seven rounds as he has done heretofore. The score was 8 to 4 with the regulars on the proper end. Jones himself pitched eight innings and took his turn at bat.

Eddie Plank showed for the first time in one of these battles, pitching four innings against the recruits. Wellman also broke in, but curved only two innings. Dr. John Lavan likewise made his debut.

The Browns will not play the New York Giants in Houston next Saturday and Sunday. Jones was willing but John McGraw accepted the dates with the Houston team, instead.

With the Giants series falling through, Jones announced that one Brownie squad would play in Dallas next Friday and then go to Denison, Tex., for games Saturday and Sunday. Jones, in command of most of the recruits, will pull stakes in Palestine Friday and proceed to Corpus Christi, Tex., on the Gulf of Mexico. He has arranged to play a soldier team there Saturday and Sunday.

Real Rookies, Eh?

The point that Sergt. Wisener of the United States Army, drillmaster assigned to the Browns' camp, is trying to impress on the Browns is the location of their right and left arms. That's one of the fundamentals drilled into the thought towers of the soldier recruits. It is necessary to enable the men to turn to the right when so commanded and to the left when that order is given.

Sergt. Wisener devoted a good part of his talk to that point, but it was wasted on some of the men, as was proven when he called for "right face" and "left face." At that he said the Browns promised to learn more rapidly than the average set of recruits accepted into the army.

CHICAGO STARS ROLL IN A. B. C. TOURNEY TODAY

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 14.—With the failure last night of the strong Jefferson Club of Chicago to overhaul the Hotel Navarres of Toledo in the American Bowling Congress tournament here, followers of the game are beginning to think the 2932 score of the Toledo five-men team is destined to win that event this year.

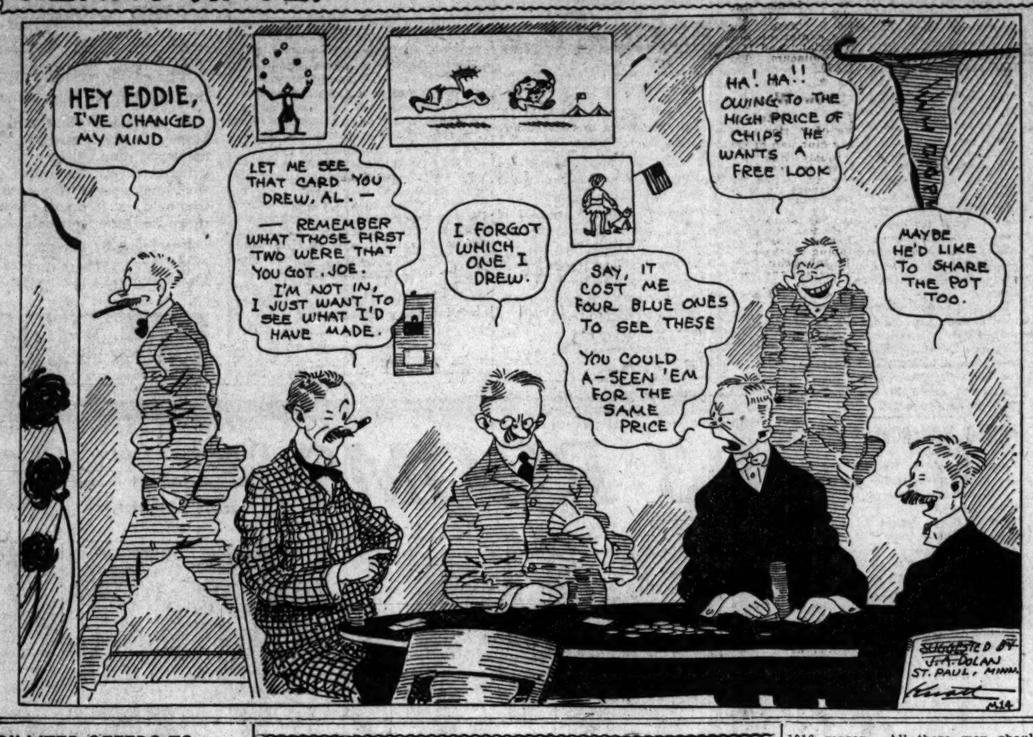

The two-man leaders, Edwards and West of Buffalo, look for their hardest trial today, when Hank Martino and Syken Thoma, the present champions, will roll against the 1289 mark of the Buffalo pair. Briand Bradshaw of Cleveland, leading in singles with 690, also has some strong competitors subject for today.

Three of the clubs on last night's final shift did better than 2800, one of them, Lasher's Nationals of Elgin, Ill., showing 2868 for a new third place, the Jeffersons scoring 2816 for eighth place, and the Overlands of Ashtabula getting 2808 for ninth position.

Soccer Protest Disallowed.

The protest of the Southerns against the Keen Kutters on charges that a penalty kick was illegally awarded in last Sunday's municipal semi-final was disallowed at a meeting of the executive committee held yesterday. This means that the Keen Kutters will meet the St. Matthews for the championship at Fairground next Sunday.

BILLITER OFFERS TO RAISE BET TO $5000

A cashier's check for $500 was received today by the stakeholder for the championship wrestling match, between Jack Fisher of Oklahoma, and Johnny Billiter of Toledo, scheduled for next Sunday at the Moose Club. The sum raises Billiter's deposit to $750, the balance of the $1000 being due the day of the match.

Sporting Editor, Post-Dispatch:

Dear Sir: Enclosed find check for $500, making $750 of the $1000 side money wagered on the Billiter-Fisher match. I will mail or bring the remainder of the cash this week.

You can state for Billiter and our St. Louis friends that he will be on hand "loaded for bear," and if Fisher and his friends think he can win, we stand ready to increase the wager from $1000 to $2000.

Billiter is in grand shape, and has, of course, been training hard, with so much at stake. There will be a Toledo delegation with us, and they will all have money to risk. You can take it from me that when Billiter is right, there is not a man living, at 135 pounds ringside, who can beat him. You can bet he will be right this time. If Fisher beats Johnny he will have to be the wrestling marvel of this century. Yours truly,

SAM JORDAN,
Manager for Billiter.

BROWNING-KINGS PLAY TODAY IN TITLE EVENT

The Browning-Kings, with a make-shift lineup departed last night for Chicago, where today they will play their first game in the National A. A. U. basketball championship tournament at the Illinois A. C. The local municipal champions have drawn the Brigham Young University team as an opponent.

The squad, under Charley Reber, included the following: Hodge, Von Dach, Mesloh, Marting, Althaus, Conzelman, Menze, Eilers and Mann. Arrangements were made for Capt. Hefelfinger to join the squad tomorrow in case the team wins today. Von Dach and Hodge were borrowed from the Columbian A. C.

SHARPE ASKED TO HANDLE NELSON-MATHEWS MATCH

Harry Sharpe, who, until a few months ago was the regular referee for the Future City A. C., has been agreed upon by both fighters in the bout at the South Broadway A. C. next Saturday between Battling Nelson and Pierce Matthews and has been asked to officiate by the club.

To date Sharpe has not accepted, but it is probable that he will act as the third man in the ring next Saturday.

Jones Thinks Sisler and Better Reserve Strength Will Win Games

HOUSTON, Tex., March 14.

THAT there should be an all-round improvement in the play of the Browns this season is a fact admitted today by Manager Fielder Jones of the St. Louis Americans. He adds, though, that whether this expected improvement in the team is sufficient to elevate the club in the race depends in a good measure on just how much bolstering the rival clubs in the league have accomplished.

Jones, in discussing the prospects of the Browns, points out several reasons why the Browns should be stronger. He is expecting:

And the possibility of strengthening of the hurling department by some of the recruit pitchers.

The Season of 1916.

In pointing out the necessity of capable utility men, Jones had in mind his experience during the 1916 season when some of his men, especially Infielders Lavan, Johnson and Austin were crippled and he had no capable performers to understudy for them. The seriousness of the situation is realized when it is remembered that the veteran Bob Wallace, who had retired more than a year before as a player, was signed to fill in as a reserve.

Jones in planning for this year's team, tried to round up men, who if they were unable to supplant any of the regulars, could aid the club in the roles of substitutes.

Such men as infielders Paulette, Kenworthy, Stevenson, Bigler, and Outfielders Sloan, Rumler, Jacobson and Yardley come under this head. If the best players of this group fail to dethrone any of the veterans the pick will be kept for utility duty.

If in no other department of the team, it seems that the catching staff will be strengthened by the addition of George Hale, the Rochester recruit. He not only made a hit with Manager Jones last year, but with the fans as well, by his clever backstopping in the waning games and the fall series with the Cardinals.

Severeid and Hartley were the catching reliances last year. Hank did well until crippled while Hartley failed to show the same good form that his admirers expected him to.

"With only a few exceptions last season," said Jones to the Post-Dispatch, "our pitchers were new to the American League. Plank and Groom had been out of the league for a season or more and that absence didn't make them as effective as if they had been better acquainted with conditions.

"Davenport was entirely new while Koob had had only a few weeks experience prior to the start of the 1916 season. All these men should prove better this year.

"I am looking for much improvement from Earl Hamilton. He looks good and says he feels fit. I am relying a whole lot on what Marsans tells me about Hamilton. Marsans says the left-hander is throwing a faster ball than he was able to pitch at any time this season.

Ham Sorely Needed.

"If Hamilton comes around it will give us the services of a pitcher who was of little help to us a year ago.

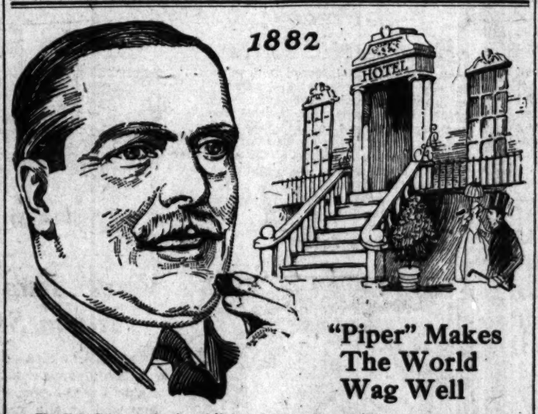

"There is also a chance that we may get some help from some of the youngsters who are with us. These young pitchers all showed well in the minor leagues from which we picked them a year ago.

"Whether they have enough 'stuff' to make good in the American League is still a question. We brought them South to put them to the test.

Jones has become almost as much of an admirer of George Sisler as is Branch Rickey, the sponsor of the famed Michigan marvel. And while Sis proved the delight and hero of patrons of Sportsman's Park last season by his excellent fielding and his timely hitting, Jones says he looks for even better play from the ex-Wolverine this year.

"Sisler now has had more than an entire season's experience in the big league," added Jones. "This knowledge should greatly aid him in doing better than even the great things he did last year."

CINCINNATI FIGHTER OUTPOINTS KABAKOFF

Last Night's Fights

New Haven.—Frankie Burns of Jersey City, won from Tommy Sher of New Haven, 12 rounds.

Providence, R. I.—Joe Phillips of Rhode Island, beat Mickey Devine, 12 rounds. Dan McDonald received decision over Young Dundee in 8 rounds.

Sammy Sandow of Cincinnati, a bantamweight, found a way to beat Harry Kabakoff, the Ghetto Ghost, at the Future City A. C. last night. It was by boring in and not trying to outbox him. Right after the bout started the Redland battler sent the local pride to the mat with a left to the jaw. And that punch did more than anything else to beat Danny O'Keefe's protege.

But Sandow won the bout by wading in all the time. He was cleanly outboxed in the second, third and fourth rounds by the Israelite. In the fifth he started boring in and never let up until the final bell had rung. And at infighting he proved a master and gained a big advantage over Kabakoff.

In fact, his margin at the end was so large that not even the most ardent followers of Kabakoff disputed Referee Randall's decision. Kabakoff won three rounds and broke even in another; but the remaining eight showed slight advantages for the Zinzinnati biffer.

There have been few times in his career when the local boy has done better boxing than in the second, third and fourth frames, especially in the latter. His left was playing a tattoo on Sandow's face and he managed to side-step or block all of his rival's blows. But in the fifth, when Sandow started his boring-in tactics, Kabby was at a loss.

This was the only way in which the Cincinnati boy could hope to win, as his arms are very short, and a long range he could not touch Kabby. But once inside Kabby's guard he pounded away with both hands, weakening the local pride.

President Tommy Sullivan announced that he probably would match Sandow with Jimmy Murphy for the feature contest next Tuesday.

The proposed 10-round bout between Benny Leonard of this city and Ritchie Mitchell, the crack Milwaukee lightweight, which has been hanging fire for several weeks, has at last been clinched. Billy Gibson, manager of Leonard, received a telegram from Tom Andrews, the fight promoter of Milwaukee, stating that he had accepted the terms Gibson requested. The men will come together at the Cream City A. C. of Milwaukee March 17.

Jim Flynn, the game Pueblo heavyweight, who is matched to meet Bob Devere at the Pioneer S. C. on March 20, was signed up for another by his manager, Jack Curley. His opponent in this go will be Terry Kellar, the Western heavyweight. They will clash in a 15-round bout to a decision at the American A. C. of Baltimore March 26.

Joe Welling of Chicago will be very busy this month. He has been signed up to box Pete Hartley, the durable Dane, for 15 rounds at 133 pounds ringside at Racine, Wis., on the night of March 26.

Frankie Burns of Jersey City, who fought eleven battles since Oct. 28, and won all of them, received $500 for his end for knocking out Battling Lahn at the Clover A. C. of Bridgeport, Conn., last Friday night. The gross receipts amounted to $1470. Lahn drew down $350 for his share.

Dan McMahan, matchmaker of the Flower City A. C. of Rochester, N. Y., has matched Joe Borrell of Philadelphia to box Roddy McDonald, the Canadian middleweight champion, to meet in a 10-round battle at a show to be staged at his club Monday evening, March 19.

Jimmy Pappas, who returned from Atlanta, Ga., last week, will meet Johnny Sharkey at the Fairmont A. C. on St. Patrick's night. Both boxers are seasoned boxers in their class and met the best of the bantamweight ranks. Pappas has fought and held his own with Ertle and Herman, and Sharkey is one of the fastest in his class.

Frankie Mack, who hails from Fairmont, Mass., and who has fought some interesting contests at clubs both in the vicinity and New England, is booked to box Chick Brown, the New Haven fighter, 10 rounds at the Arena A. C. of New Haven, Conn., on the night of March 24.

SPORT SALAD

By I. C. Davis

'Twas Ever Thus.

I REMEMBER, I remember,
When I was but a lad,
To make me hit the Ostermoor
The work my mother had;
She always made me go to bed
At least an hour too soon;
And wake me in the morning when
I'd like to sleep till noon.

I remember, I remember,
The window pane I broke;
It filled my soul with childish glee—
I thought it was a joke.
But father couldn't see the point,
Which seemed to me so plain;
And even to this very day
I think of it with pain.
I remember, I remember,

The day I lost a tooth;
Believe me, on that day I was
A proud and happy youth.
When with my comrades I would play
A smile my face would wreathe;
They marveled much to see the way
I spat between my teeth.

GONZALES JOINS HUGGINS' FORCES WITHOUT SIGNING.

Cuban Will Confer With Cardinal Manager Today on Terms for 1917.

DOAK ONLY ABSENTEE

Spitball Pitcher Has Not Been Heard From, but Practice Goes Merrily On.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 14.—Miguel Gonzales, the Cuban star, reported to Manager Huggins late last night, relieving a great tension in the Cardinal camp. Gonzales explained his tardiness by saying that he had played ball for the past two months and is in no way interested in the preliminary work, such as the Cardinals are doing here. He's ready to jump into a big league box score and do his best.

However, Gonzales hasn't signed. He, with Lumbago Bill Doak and George Filbert Pierce, are the holdouts in the Cardinals, but at this writing Doak is the only one numbered among the missing.

Huggins will lock horns with Gonzales today over the salary question and expects to effect a speedy settlement. There's no disposition on the part of the Cardinal manager to mistreat Gonzales, who is relied upon for a major portion of the work behind the bat this season. Pierce also is expected to sign today. Hug has set aside a whole hour for consultation with the two balky athletes.

Cards Beaten by Bronchos.

In yesterday's six-inning practice game here, the Cardinals got the short end of a 3–2 score with the San Antonio Bronchos. However, it was "soft pitching" all the way and the score is indicative of nothing. The Cards were beaten chiefly because Pitcher Lou North walked four men in one inning this being the same round in which the enemy compounded a double and a sacrifice fly, yielding only two runs.

The local pitchers are taking more chances than the Cardinals, and their use of a curve ball has tended to equalize the batting so far. Hug flatly refuses to allow his pitchers to "put anything on it" as yet.

Clyde Defate, the promising third sacker, who has been hitting with great eclat since the training season began, was spiked in the heel during yesterday's game, but the injury was only slight. He retired after the collision, but will be back on the job today.

Oscar Horstman, the big right-hander, secured from Los Angeles, pitched nice ball yesterday for three innings. Horstman showed fine speed, fooling the Texas Leaguers by his control and smoke. Huggins wouldn't let him use his curve, but he managed to get by.

The Cards combed only five hits yesterday. Two of these went to Johnny Miller. Walton Cruise pinched off one, as did F. Smith. Horstman also surprised with a single.

OVERTON MAY MEET RAY IN 1-MILE MATCH RACE

NEW YORK, March 14.—The Millrose A. A. has announced that John F. Mahan, coach of Joie Ray of the Illinois A. C., who has set new world's indoor records at one mile and a half and at two miles this winter, has requested the John Wanamaker Commercial Institute to arrange a special one-mile race between Ray and Overton at the institute's games in Madison Square Garden on March 21.

John McGowan, athletic director of the Millrose Club, immediately wired the Yale authorities for permission to enter Overton in the race proposed by Mahan, and he also took steps to have Ivan Myers included in the contest.

Up to a late hour last night no reply had been received from New Haven.

McGowan was optimistic and said he was certain the intercollegiate cross-country champion would get the necessary permission without delay. L. V. Windnagle of Cornell also will be invited to run in the proposed race, as will Mike Devanney of the Millrose A. A. and Sid Leslie.

Training Camp Notes

Bill Donovan is gloating over the fact—ancient though it is to the wisenheimers of St. Louis—that Lee Magee plays as well on first base as he does in the outfield. Donovan apparently has just discovered this, and makes it a peg to hang the prediction that the Yankees will be "up there all the way."

In that case the Browns should win the pennant. George Harold Sisler can play more first base than Magee ever dreamed of, while he can shift to the outfield and teach Lee new tricks. In a dire pinch—oh, boy! we mean a real pinch—he can pitch 'em past the batters like the Overland Express passing a tramp. On to Pennantville, Fielder, we've delayed long enough.

A military statistician says that 98 per cent of the army recruits are right-handed. For that reason the two southpaws out of every 100, must learn to do their stunts right-handed. In baseball there seems to be a premium on southpaws. Offhand, we can mention such stars as Bader, Speaker, Chase, Ruff, Robertson, Plank, Dalley, Vaughan, Leonard, Ruth, Daubert, Pipp and Koob. Some class, eh, bo?

In the practice games being played at Marling Springs, John McGraw has the renowned Heine Zim, swinging fourth—the clean-up berth—where he belongs while Art Fletcher comes next, superseding Benjamin Kauff, who fizzled last season. Zim batted .350 last year, while Fletcher tied that mark. Any strange to say, Fletcher, in fewer games, made more triples than Zim, the score being 9 to 8 in favor of Zim.

Wray's Column

Ty Cobb, Dictator.

TYRUS RAYMOND COBB, "King" of Swat, is also czar. He is an absolute monarch. When he sneezes Jennings, Navin et al. kerchoo in polite imitation. When Tyrus opens his head they "yes" him to sleep.

When training time comes, Cobb elects to remain at Atlanta while his mates toil and drill in Texas; nothing is said.

Tyrus then remains at home and pursues the nimble dollar to its last citadel; the club owners approve.

Asked when he intends coming to work, he yawns and says that probably, in due time, he'll show up for business; but it's all right with Jennings.

And for this Tyrus receives $20,000 per year and more advertising than any other player in the game.

There is one thing Tyrus doesn't gain—the good will of team mates who are not allowed such liberties, nor pampered into the "teacher's pet" class.

They are mean enough to argue that Ty has no rights to which they themselves are not entitled; and that the club owners play favorites in the matter of liberties allowed.

Well, what of it? The way to remedy it is to make Ty look like a bush leaguer on the playing field. Which is like asking Herzegovina to put up a fight like Russia.

Molla in the Eclipse.

MISS MOLLA BJURSTEDT'S championship star is in the eclipse, just at present. The Scandinavian girl, holder of all American tennis titles, up to this year, defaulted one crown, in order to make the trip to the Pacific Coast, to play Mrs. Bundy and Miss Mary Browne.

In other words, she gave up the national indoor title, without defending it, in order to suffer defeats at the hands of two former national women champions.

Miss Bjurstedt has not shown her former skill, so far this season, having suffered reverses during appearances in the East, early in the year.

Defeats in three out of four matches with Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, however, seem to indicate that, no matter what her condition, she would be unable to master the California woman in a championship match.

Kansas City Meets Pay.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS REILLEY of the Kansas City Athletic Club, who was here with a track team, at the indoor athletic meet, Saturday, was amazed that an attendance of only 1992 persons was present at the games.

"Our indoor event, held the week previously, and which lacked considerable of having the class that was shown at St. Louis, drew an attendance of 7000," Dr. Reilly told members of the Missouri Athletic Club.

They might attract that attendance to a St. Louis meet—if the promoters could advertise that King George and the Kaiser would box six rounds.

Underwriters Deserve Thanks.

INCIDENTALLY it is worth while to mention the honor roll, the hardy sons who came to the front and agreed to make good any financial loss. Considering that the previous year's meet cost $4900, they risked a big tap. Here are the men we owe thanks to:

Billy Connors, C. W. Bassett, Dick Daley, Gwynne Evans, Tom Grace, Bert Greene, Ed Kuehn, H. Levinson, Norton Newcomb, Bob Niedringhaus, Fred Ward and—TOM WATTS.

And the last shall be first!

Tom was one in a thousand—Kilo Watts ought to be his name. Hustling, Bo, is where he shines.

M. A. A. Helped Out.

ALTHOUGH the Missouri A. A. was not back of the local event, it really made it possible in the following ways:

All the underwriters were members.

The director of athletics and the track coach worked hard daily to help the A. A. U. promoters.

The free use of the lobby and the mailing list of the M. A. A. were granted.

Members purchased about $750 worth of tickets considerably more than one-third the total revenue earned.

With it all, the event barely scraped through. It taught one good lesson, however—that a first-class program can be arranged for $2000 instead of $5000; and that the club can make money off the meet, if it desires to take it over, as formerly.

Boxing in St. Louis.

TOMMY SULLIVAN of the Future City A. C., has been coining a few shekels, recently, thanks to several popular matches he has arranged.

However, only two "gates" over $1500 in many months and only a few over $500 have been taken in at the Future City Athletic Club's Pine street arena, while at least two shows drew less than $200.

This effectually refutes the idea prevailing in some quarters that the boxing promoter's most arduous labor consists in twirling his mustache with diamond-studded fingers, while thinking about his fat bank deposits.

Charley Haughton, the most courageous of the lot, made big money at times, but lost it back again and quit "broke." At least 20 promoters have started up, since Haughton's day, now at the Jai Alai, now at the old Crescent Rink, the Coliseum and other places; but, aside from an occasional good "gate," no REAL money was regularly taken in.

The best house in St. Louis, since the McCoy-Stifft fight of 17 years ago, when an $11,000 "gate" was taken in, was at the exhibition bout between Packey McFarland and Harry Trendall, at the Coliseum. This house was worth $5500.

Even "Angels" Grow Weary.

THE Future City A. C. started out with the backing of Marion Lambert, a wealthy young clubman of this city. Lambert generously "dug" into his jeans many times, in the effort to make the game a go. Time and again he had to contribute, to make up guarantees. Eventually even he tired.

Brooklyn Sullivan has since tried to float the sport. He has struggled along, scraping together a bare living and steadily slipping as the game went down, down the toboggan. Commission rule has not helped the sport financially.

Nor will it, until the birth of a national commission, with power to force fighters to train and fight honestly, box for reasonable sums and extend themselves to the limit.

St. Louis is evidently not filled with "come-ons," who fall for any old [illegible]—and LIKE it.

McCourt Takes Lead.

Charles McCourt, world's three-cushion champion, gained a lead of 15 points over Jes Lean of Chicago in the first block of their title match played in Cleveland last night. The title holder won, 50–35, in 45 innings. The second block will be contested tonight, with the match coming to a close tomorrow.

Interstate Changes Name.

At a meeting last night the Interstate League changed its name to Missouri-Illinois Association and organized for the coming season with six clubs. The teams granted franchises were the East St. Louis Giants, Alton Brads, Belleville Sts. Peters and American Steels. The Ben Millers probably will be awarded the remaining franchise.

QUICK PRICE CHANGES MARK WHEAT TRADING

Values Are Irregular to Lower Owing to Uncertain Strike Outlook; Corn Easy.

Quick price changes marked trading in the local wheat market early today, as a result of the uncertain strike outlook and sinking of an American vessel by a German submarine also made for conservatism in trading.

Opening values were slightly irregular as compared with yesterday's close, but an advance carried the market 1c to 1⅝c over that level. A sudden break then lowered it 1c under yesterday's finish, where some support was encountered.

Corn moved with wheat and averaged slightly lower after some early buying. Spring weather and increased primary receipts made for easier sentiment. Oats were slightly lower with corn.

May wheat opened at $1.81¼, or ¼c over yesterday's close, rose to $1.82⅛, then lost to $1.79⅝. July opened ⅜c to 1c up, at $1.51⅝@1.52, rose to $1.52⅝, then lost to $1.50.

May corn opened ⅝c up, at $1.08⅝, sold at $1.08⅞, then lost to $1.07⅝. July opened ½c up, at $1.07⅛, sold at $1.08, then dropped to $1.07⅝. May oats were unchanged, at 58½c nominal.

Yesterday's St. Louis cash grain prices were: No. 2 red wheat, $1.78; No. 3 red, $1.85@1.95; No. 4 red, $1.80; No. 2 hard, $1.93@1.98; No. 3 hard, $1.88@1.90; No. 4 hard, $1.84.

Quote No. 2 corn, $1.09@1.09½; No. 3 corn, $1.08@1.09; No. 4 corn, $1.07½; No. 2 yellow corn, $1.09¼@1.10; No. 3 yellow, $1.08⅝@1.09; No. 4 yellow, $1.07@1.08; No. 2 white, $1.09½@1.10; No. 3 white, $1.08@1.09½.

COTTON IS IRREGULAR IN NEW YORK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 14.—The cotton market was unsettled early today owing to reports that an American steamer had been sunk by a German submarine, although it was stated that the entire crew had been saved. This news served to offset very firm cables and the market opened barely steady at a decline of 6 points to an advance of 1 point. The opening in New Orleans was relatively easy and houses with New Orleans connections sold, while there was considerable scattering liquidation which sent May off to 17.85c, or about 12 points net lower, with October selling at 16.86c, or 3 points net lower, before the end of the first hour.

SMALL FERTILE MISSOURI FARM. TOTAL INVESTMENT ONLY $25. Payable $2.50 Monthly. Without Interest.

Highly productive land, capable in instances of producing $100 to $500 per acre in fruits, vegetables, etc. Within 3 miles of good town and railroad; close to 3 big markets. Oil seeping out in a dozen places throughout our tract; lead found pure enough to run into bullets; other valuable minerals in evidence. Well-known and successful Kansas City geologist predicts oil will be found in paying quantities in our district. For every 1000 acres sold $10,000 will be deposited in Kansas City's largest national bank, every cent to be used in drilling a deep test well for oil, gas and minerals. The well and everything discovered will be owned exclusively by the small farm purchasers. We will be repaid by increase in value of our remaining lands. One of these small farms means a home and a competence for you. Discovery of an oil pool may mean a fortune. Our land has been inspected and accepted by several states under their "Blue Sky laws." Send today for photographs, full information and letters from 36 well-pleased purchasers, who have made a careful personal inspection, and our bank references. Willis R. Munger, H-124, N. Y. Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. (c8)

DO NOT BUY STOCK IN OIL DEVELOPMENT COMPANIES.

A few hundred or a few thousand shares, bought at 1 cent to $1 per share, gives you such an indescribably small share in the huge capitalization of the average company that your profits would amount to little or nothing even though a gusher is struck. Then there must not be forgotten the old familiar program so dear to the heart of the promoter and so well known to the American public of "freezing out" the minority stockholders before "the melon is cut."

Buy the land. Own it and everything under it. Profit by the enhancement which surrounding development brings. Drill on it, lease it to a big operating company, build on it, live on it, grow strawberries, grapes, fruit, vegetables, poultry. Do whatever you please with it. Let it be yours without any reservations, restrictions of assessments.

Oil is seeping out in a dozen places throughout my tract; lead has been found in chunks weighing 10 pounds and pure enough to run into bullets. Other valuable minerals are in evidence. Well known and successful Kansas City geologist predicts oil will be found in paying quantities.

For only $25, payable $2.50 monthly, you can buy a one-acre tract within 3 miles of good railroad town, (oil seepage in adjoining section) and a pro rata interest in 10 5000-foot well to be drilled. Acre-tract owners will own all of the wells and everything produced by them. You cannot possibly lose a cent. You are buying the land at its present actual value. One lucky strike among the 10 wells means a fortune. Land has been inspected and approved by authorities of several states under their "Blue Sky laws." Full information, bank references and letters from dozens of satisfied purchasers, who inspected, free. Send today. Willis R. Munger, H-104, N. Y. Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. (c8)

The Post-Dispatch Daily Short Story

The Sureness of Silas

By Charles A. Goddard.

WHEN old Silas Warner left his headquarters in the First National Bank he noticed a circle of men on the opposite corner.

"What is the excitement, Andrew?" he asked a neighbor.

That was a policy that no one could ever accuse Silas of following. Any citizen of Blinxville could tell you that whenever Silas Warner said "good-by" to a silver dollar it was with the thousand-fold assurance that he would soon welcome it back with four or five others. Testimony to this effect could be obtained from widows and others who lacked shrewdness to hold up their end of a bargain. From this you may know that Silas was not a speculator. He invested only when he had death grip on his money and that of the other party.

So Silas stopped at the corner to watch the "suckers" and to admire the clever work of a stranger who did in a smaller way the thing which Silas himself did. Silas was, one might say, watching the show from behind the scenes.

The stranger was performing behind a canvas telescope case and tripod for the benefit of those who still believed you can "beat a man at his own game." On the bottom of the suitcase were a score or so of paper pill boxes.

"Is the eye quicker than the hand?" muttered the stranger. "I'll wrap this brand-new $5 bill around this piece of soap, put it into this little box, flip it into the suitcase—thus. If you give me a dollar you can take your choice—and pick out the box with the five bones in it. If your eyesight's good you make $4."

Bill Stevens, Grid Barnard's hired hand, backing his eyesight with a dollar, picked out a box. A crisp new $5 bill proved his eyesight to be perfect. This, thought Silas, was taking a chance. But his cooler judgment assured him it was good business on the part of the faker.

"You're too quick fer me," complained the stranger. "I can't let you in on this no more. I'm going to see if anyone else can catch me now. Here's a sister of that five. Watch where she goes."

Another farmer was sure he was right. An investment of a dollar showed him to be wrong. He tried again. This time he won.

"The fellow is pretty liberal with his bait," thought Silas.

"You got me that time, but I was a little slow." And another bill was thrown into the suit case. Several hands thrust out. The favored customer's eyesight was defective. He tried again, but his only reward was a chorus of laughter. In the next dozen trials only one was successful, but the winner lost his winnings trying to maintain his reputation.

Such a money-making institution fascinated Silas Warner. He, of course, knew that no man would take very long risks of losing $4 a play, but as long as it was not his money that was going he rather enjoyed the game. So interested did he become that he crowded close to the stranger's left arm. This accounts for his seeing something that his fellow citizens missed.

"No, we'll have a little excitement," said the faker. "You fellows have been betting one to five on your eyesight; now I'm going to bet 40 to 1 on my fingers. They're gittin' nimble. This time I'll roll two twenties around this soap. If your eyesight's first-class, you get $40 for one measley little old dollar."

The faker rolled the bills around the soap and put them into a little paper box; but his lively fingers caused the box to bounce out of the suit case and land on the ground. He picked it up, brushed it on his sleeve and threw it into the suit case—but not before Silas' quick eyes observed that the side of the paper box bore a stain from the street. Evidently this had not been observed by the faker. Before he had started his "spiel" Silas thrust a dollar toward him.

But between them came a second stranger, who addressed the faker. "If we get that 4 o'clock we can't wait no longer. Close up your grip and come on, right away."

"All right, Joe; I don't like to leave these boys, but we can't miss our train." And the faker started to lift the telescope lid from the ground. "We'll come back"—

Silas' hand stopped him. He drew back his dollar and pulled out his wallet. "Let me try you this time. I'll give you $20."

"No, uncle, we must git down to your deepo."

"I'll give you thirty!"

"Thirty-five dollars!" And Silas backed his bid with the greenbacks.

"Five dollars is $5," thought Silas.

"Say, what you got on me, anyway?" complained the stranger. "You crowded me too close to give me a fair show. Nothing doing. You can't put nothing' even on me. Clean out. I got to go."

"See here, you stick to your offer." Five dollars were $5 to Silas, and this five was not to flit away just because Silas had made use of an accident to the faker's paraphernalia. "If you back out I'll have you arrested."

"All right," said the bluffed faker. "I'm as game as you are. Take your pick."

With one quick grab Silas gathered in the box with the tell-tale stain on its side. Nervously Silas opened the little box, on which 80 pairs of eyes were focused, and unwrapped a crisp, new piece of soap.

JUDGE: And you claim to be a handwriting expert, madam?

The woman: I do.

"How did you become such an expert?"

"I was five years in a summer resort postoffice."

Inquisitive Billy Mouse.

LITTLE Billy Mouse was very inquisitive. When his father and mother came in at night, Billy Mouse always jumped right up in his bed and began to ask: "Where have you been? Have you brought me anything?"

And when they went out he would follow them right out to the very edge of their hole in the wall and ask, "Where are you going? Can't I go, too?"

"Billy Mouse," said his father, one day, "you must not be so inquisitive. Some day it will get you into trouble. Inquisitiveness is a very bad quality for a mouse."

But Billy Mouse did not take warning or heed his father's wise words. He continued to pike his nose about and ask questions, and one day he followed his father and mother outside the hole, and if it had not been for his father seeing him, Billy Mouse would have ended his days right then and there.

Mistress Puss had her eye on that hole in the wall of the pantry for a long time, but Billy's father and mother were old at the game of hide and seek, so Puss did not catch them.

But now she was sure there were one or two little mice in the hole, and Puss knew they would not be as clever at escaping her as their parents, so she watched and waited.

This morning Billy's father and mother were scudding across the pantry floor to a place of safety, when Billy's father happened to see him, and in another minute he knew that Mistress Puss would have Billy Mouse by the neck.

So brave Father Mouse ran right back in Puss' face, and almost into her paws, while Mother Mouse ran back and ran Billy Mouse back into his hole.

Of course, any wise little mouse, after such a narrow escape as that, would have listened carefully to all the good advice his father gave him; but not so Billy Mouse.

"They think I can't take care of myself," said Billy Mouse, after he had been put into bed and told not to get up until his father and mother came home. "I could have run away from that Puss; she can't run half as fast as I can, I know; for she is much bigger, and, of course, cannot move as swiftly. Besides that, she cannot run under a door, and I can. I did it one day when father and mother were out, and I could get away from Mistress Puss any day—I know I could.

"How am I going to see the world if I am kept in bed all my life and never allowed out of this hole? It is silly, and I will not be made a baby of any longer."

And this was the way Billy Mouse reasoned with himself until he began to think he was grown up already, and out of bed he jumped and ran to the hole.

He poked out his nose, and there was no Puss in sight; all was still as could be; then Billy Mouse smelled something, and it smelled good; so he poked his head out and looked about.

No, there was nothing to be afraid of, and he wanted to see what was in a box he saw not far from the hole.

"I'll just run over and look at it," said Billy Mouse. "I wonder what can be in such a queer-looking box? I don't believe mother and father would blame me for looking in that. It is all full of little holes, and if Puss came along I could run in one of the holes and hide. I am going, anyway."

So out of the hole ran silly little Billy Mouse and looked at the strange box.

"My!" he said, poking his nose close to the box; "that nice smell comes from this box. I do believe it is cheese. Mother brought me a piece one time, and I liked it very much."

And then Billy Mouse poked his nose closer to the box. "It is cheese, and it is in this box," he said; "perhaps it is full of cheese, and I can eat all I want. I will just run in and see."

"Oh! look, look!" said Mother Mouse "It's Billy caught in one of those horrid traps. What shall we do?"

"Hush! Don't make such a noise," said wise Father Mouse. "Do as I tell you and we can save him. Take hold of his tail and pull hard."

Mother Mouse did as her husband told her, and she pulled as Father Mouse jumped up on top of the trap and, with his front paws, pushed down the little wire that held Billy Mouse fast.

Mother Mouse pulled so hard that when Billy Mouse was freed she lost her balance and over she went on her back, right into a pan of milk, and Billy Mouse with her.

The cool milk brought Billy Mouse to his senses, and he began to squeak loudly.

"Keep quiet," said his father, pulling Billy Mouse and his mother out of the milk and hurrying them into the hole.

"I guess you have done enough mischief for one day," said his father. "The next time we go out we will tie you in your bed; you are the most inquisitive child I ever knew."

Poor Billy Mouse was too frightened this time to care much if his neck ached, and when his mother gave him some medicine with a very unpleasant taste Billy Mouse swallowed it without a squeak.

The next day he had to stay in bed with a flannel around his throat, and even if he had not been tied in he would not have gone out of the hole, for Billy Mouse was no longer inquisitive; he was too frightened and sick to care about anything.

And he made up his mind that when he was well he would obey his father and mother and never, never again try to find out what was in a box.
